

D.C. Firemen Ask Holiday Pact Re-Evaluation

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A group of Daly City firemen are trying to renege on certain parts of an agreement entered into with the city last June regarding holiday work schedules. Specifically, the group wants the city council to re-evaluate Rule XIV, section 10, of the Rules and Regulations of the classified service—that section which deals with holidays for police and firemen.

Almost half of the uniformed firemen (33 persons) signed a petition and presented it to the city council during its regular meeting Monday asking for the new study.

Eugene Gernstrand, a veteran of more than ten years in the department, represented the group to the council.

Gernstrand explained that savings to the city would be in the neighborhood of $15,000 per year if the department could return to the "old" holiday schedules.

It was quickly pointed out by City Manager Dave Rowe that indeed the city would save that amount, but would lose the services of four firemen.

Rowe said the new system costs about $30,000 annually, and adds a total of seven additional men to the on-duty roster.

The real gripe, however, stems from the difference in agreements between what fire personnel agreed upon initially and the end result that was approved by the council Monday.

Gernstrand said the proposals were worded differently than those first agreed upon by firemen, and legal advisors had informed the group they might have cause to insist the matter be re-negotiated.

Rowe went into a lengthy explanation about the processes used in reaching agreement with all six city working groups and pointed out this was the first time such meetings had ever been made in Daly City.

A letter dated June 27 to the city from fire department negotiators indicated the firemen had voted approval of the proposals, Rowe said.

Gernstrand, after informing Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett that his group did not represent the Firemen's Benevolent Society, admitted they were "looking for a legal loophole" by which to re-open talks on the agreement entered into with the city.

Mayor Lycett said such a move on the part of the city would literally open a Pandora's box and other employee groups would follow suit.

"What confronts us here is when is an agreement an agreement?" City Attorney Albert Polonsky asked.

Polonsky said in his opinion only the firemen's association could object to the agreement in this particular case and "no legal loophole exists" in the agreement.

San Bruno Is Drowned In a Pond

A San Bruno man drowned in a farm pond south of Los Banos Sunday while trying to save his 10-year-old son from drowning. Gaston Ruspil, 46, 550 Hawthorne Avenue, San Bruno, a French Basque, had been on a deer hunting expedition on the Erreca Cattle Company ranch 21 miles southwest of Los Banos, according to Merced County Deputy Coroner Larry Brammer.

At about 4:30 p.m., the group had gathered around a small pool growing from a spring deep in a stifling canyon where the grass is seared brown in the summertime heat.

Ruspil's son Micheal Jean waded into the pond, and got tangled in the weeds.

None of the party could swim, said Deputy Coroner Brammer, but several waded in to rescue the boy.

Ruspil apparently panicked. (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Former D.C. Car Dealer Is Arrested

Bob Rudolph, former manager of the now defunct Bob Rudolph Ford of Daly City, was arrested by San Mateo police on Tuesday on a charge of assault and battery on his wife.

According to police, Rudolph, 39, was taken into custody at about 3 a.m. after his wife, Nancy, 31, called for help. She said her husband was beating her and she needed assistance.

Police said that when they arrived at the couple's apartment at 10 de Sabia Road they found some evidence that Mrs. Rudolph had been involved in a scuffle. She had some red welts on her arm, according to Officer Craig Wood. Rudolph himself showed signs of a struggle, the report stated, with scratch marks evident on some parts of his body.

Mrs. Rudolph told police they had been moving from their old home at 720 Euclid in Hillsborough and that the original argument ensued at about 6 p.m.

The couple's two children, Robert, 11, and Karen, 4, were said to be witnesses to their parents' encounter. Rudolph made bail of $315 and was released at 7 a.m. Tuesday. He is scheduled to appear on charges in Central District Municipal Court, San Mateo.

New S.M. County Judges: Miller to Northern Court

By VIRGIL WILSON

Elevation of Municipal Court Judge Lyle R. Edson to the Superior Court and the appointment of two Atherton lawyers, Chief Deputy District Attorney Robert E. Carey and Robert D. Miller, to Municipal Court posts, was announced yesterday by Governor Reagan's office.

Edson, the only Democrat among the appointees, will take over the position vacated by the retirement of Superior Court Judge Wayne R. Millington June 30.

Carey, son-in-law of the former county supervisor, Thomas J. Callan, will take over Edson's court in the Southern Judicial District.

Miller, a law partner of State Senator Richard J. Dolwig, will succeed Paul Huff in the Municipal Court in South San Francisco. Huff resigned the post at the end of June to return to private practice.

Edson, reached at Novato where he is vacationing, said he will not be able to make the transfer until the end of the month. Several cases were set over to be disposed of in the last week of the month after his return from vacation, he said.

The Edson children are Jo Anne, 23, who just completed her fifth year at San Jose State College and plans to enter teaching; Mrs. Patricia Anderson, living temporarily in Paris where her husband is a fellow on a law project; Richard, 18, James, 15, and Robert, 13.

Carey said his assumption of the Municipal Court post will depend, of course, on Edson's timing.

Miller, who will be required to move from Atherton to the Northern Judicial District, also could not be reached.

Edson, 52, was first appointed to the bench in 1964 by former governor Edmund G. Brown. He thus becomes one of the few judges to receive appointments from both Democrat and Republican governors.

New Delay For Coast Civic Center

By DON GRIERSON

Pacific councilmen and Developer Kurt Heath continued their seemingly endless discussion of the proposed convention center and apartment complex at the Wander Inn site Monday, and again instructed their respective legal experts to attempt to "work out a satisfactory agreement."

Heath and an attorney for his firm, Leland Jordan, reported to the council Monday that they have found a proposal for acquiring a bond to guarantee completion of the convention center to be built in connection with the project is not feasible.

"We had thought this proposal for a bond was a satisfactory alternative to the earlier stipulations tying occupancy permits to the convention center phase of the project," Jordan said.

"However, preliminary inquiries indicate that no one will touch it."

Jordan said the council's earlier stipulation that work must begin on the 600-seat convention center before occupancy permits would be issued for the apartment phase of the development is also unsatisfactory.

"We have found that the financial institutions will not touch the project with that stipulation intact," he said.

A provision of the original ordinance for the planned development drafted by City Attorney John Sherman stipulated that all occupancy permits for the apartment complex would be revoked if work on the convention center did not begin within 90 days of the beginning of construction of the apartments.

Jordan pointed out that the original ordinance would allow construction of only the first phase of the 800-unit apartment development before a permit could be issued for the convention center.

"This seems to indicate to me that the city would have ample opportunity to determine the developer's good faith," he said.

"You would have the right to issue a stop-work order on the apartment development at this point, and halt further construction."

"If the developer was going to defy the terms of the ordinance, your only recourse would be in court action anyway," the attorney said. "We don't believe you will have this problem, but if

Two Storm Drain Project Contracts Awarded in D.C.

The Daly City council Monday awarded a contract for the construction of storm drains on Westlake and Niantic avenues to the Lowrie Paving Company on their low bid of $9,850.

Associated Pipelines with their bid of $12,200 was second lowest bidder.

In other action, the council closed the public hearing on re-zoning three parcels of land adjacent to Gellert Boulevard from R-3 and C-2 to C-1 and C-2 (Commercial). The matter had been continued from July 28.

Pacifica Cool To Airport Tie

A proposal for a "feasibility study" to determine whether or not the Bay Area Rapid Transit system should be extended to the San Francisco International Airport met with an unenthusiastic reception at the Pacifica Council meeting Monday.

In response to a query from the Board of Supervisors on the proposed study, Pacifica council members stated they feel such a study would be of "no particular value" to the coastal city and therefore Pacifica "should not be asked to share the cost of such a study, unless it included consideration of transportation problems in our area."

Mayor Nick Gust and council members stated they intend to air the matter before delegates at the next North County Council of Cities meeting.

Doelger Corp. in Daly City Denies Pact to Sell Holdings

A spokesman for the Henry Doelger Corporation today denied that agreements had been reached "with anyone" for the sale of the builder's vast holdings in the North County and Half Moon Bay areas.

Edward King, vice president of the firm, told The Times that rumors concerning the sale of Doelger Company holdings

"crop up every other week" and most have no substance at all. Latest story circulating is that Doelger will soon sell out to the giant Kaiser Aluminum-Aetna Insurance combine.

There have been other rumored sales in recent weeks: First to the Occidental Oil Company and more recently to Pennsylvania Railroad.

"There's no secret that Henry (Doelger) will sell to anyone that wants to pay the price," King said.

Apparently no one has the price to date. "The 'price' itself has been rumored to range from $5 million on up to $80 million for Doelger's 3,000-plus apartments in Daly City; three shopping centers in the North County, and property in his latest development at Princeton-by-the-Sea near Half Moon Bay. The latter is a planned community development that Doelger envisions will one day house 60,000 people and all supporting facilities for a city of this size.

dicial appointments are made on the basis of ability, without regard to political affiliations.

Edson, who was chief civil deputy in the district attorney's office at the time of his appointment in 1964, lives at 937 Arling Road in Redwood City. He and his wife, Josephine, have five children and one grandchild.

Edson is a graduate of University of San Francisco law school and holds an accounting degree from the same school. A naval officer in World War II, Edson was in the private practice of law for a short time and served as counsel for the Office of Price Stabilization during the Korean War before joining the district attorney's staff here in 1963.

Carey, 49, has lived at 2 Isabella Avenue, Atherton, since 1950, the year he came to work for the district attorney's office here. He has been chief criminal deputy on the staff of District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson since 1959.

He is a 1941 graduate of University of California in Berkeley, and earned his law degree at University of San Francisco in 1948. He was admitted to the practice of law in 1949 and entered private practice in Redwood City. He also served as attorney for the County Harbor District.

Carey is married to the former Helen Josephine Callan of Colma. They have three children, Robert Jr., 23, a third year student at Boalt School of Law at Cal. Thomas, 15, a sophomore at Bellarmine Prep in San Jose, and Ann, 11, a seventh year student at Convent of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park.

Miller, 47, said he has maintained a duplex residence at 315 Orange Avenue in South San Francisco for two years and will live there temporarily. He and his wife, Edythe, will start looking soon for a permanent home in the district, he said.

Within Month

The appointee said he intends to take over the judgeship as soon as possible, hopefully within a month. It depends upon how soon Dolwig can find someone to take over the South San Francisco law practice, he explained.

Miller is a graduate of Cal at Berkeley and got his law degree in 1949 at Hastings Law School in San Francisco. He practiced law in the San Joaquin Valley for two years and, in 1952, joined Dolwig in South San Francisco. Their law firm has been in business at the same location, 304 Grand Avenue, since that time.

There are five Miller children: Keith, 19, a student at Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo; Janice, 17; Cameron, 16; Robert, 14; and Christy, 8.

Holdup At S.S.F. Station

Two men held up a service station attendant in South San Francisco Monday, and escaped on foot with $35.

Police said the pair of robbers, both described as young Negroes with "Afro" type haircuts, approached the lone attendant at Bob and Pete's Service Station at the corner of Chestnut and El Camino Real about 11 p.m.

One of the men pulled a ten-inch switchblade knife from his jacket pocket and told the attendant his partner had a gun, police said, then demanded the cash register receipts.

Both the suspects were dressed in dark clothing, and both wore goatees, according to police reports.

Mary's Help Plans New Psycho Unit

Sister Teresa, administrator, met recently with the newly elected officers of the hospital's Advisory Board to review plans for the 26-bed psychiatric unit presently under construction at Mary's Help Hospital.

Roy A. Bronson, president of this board, will lead its 32 members for the next two years as they offer counsel to the hospital in the vital areas of community relations, finance, and hospital planning. Other members of this executive committee are Jack Hickey, vice president; Henry "Bud" Bostwick, Jr., secretary; and Mrs. Ralph K. Davis, vice president. A third vice president is Edmund T. King.

The general membership of the Advisory Board meets quarterly at the hospital. Representing the counties of San Francisco and San Mateo, it draws its membership from the following communities: Daly City, Burlingame, Hillsborough, Pacifica, Pleasanton, San Francisco, San Mateo, and South San Francisco.

you were, this provision of the ordinance would not prevent it," Mayor Nick Gust and other council members repeated their contention that development of the commercial phase of the project must be assured before construction of the apartments is allowed.

In addition to the matter of "tying together" the different phases of the project, a number of questions related to the proposed Cabrillo Freeway right-of-way through the 21-acre parcel was discussed.

The developer agreed to submit specific plans for construction on only the area west of the proposed freeway route "until the division of highways finalizes the route."

self, will fly in from the Mediterranean, either this week or next, will undoubtedly lend to the rumors.

Another Doelger executive, U. R. (Jack) Kendree, said the fly-in was routine and had no connection with the sale of the corporation.

Doelger usually spends his summers aboard his yacht—Westlake III—cruising the Mediterranean and returning in late summer or early fall.

"He hasn't seen the new model homes at Princeton-by-the-Sea as yet," Kendree explained. "This is possibly one reason for his return at this time."

The officials both claim Doelger has not really tried to sell, but has been approached many times by various companies in recent years.

beach front property within 300 feet of the new road for public use.

The council resolution will leave open the question of whether or not the stretch of freeway will be raised or constructed on fill material, and also the matter of whether a frontage road will be located on the east or west side of the new freeway.

The council action approves the "ultimate right-of-way line" of the road, and will allow the division of highways to begin right-of-way purchasing in "hardship cases," according to engineer Ken Scott.

Councilmen ordered the resolution prepared after hearing the recommendations of Wally Sharp, chairman of the city's highway commission, and City Engineer David Thompson.

Thompson said further delay in approving the plans would result in "holding up such projects as the pending development of the Wander Inn project."

Construction of the new road is currently "eight to ten years away," according to division of highways spokesmen.

OLD NUMBER ONE, the South San Francisco Fire Department's 1927 model "Seagrave pumper," was sold at auction last week at a price of $2,250. A Wilmington, Calif., auto buyer, Marshall "Doc" Davee, entered the winning bid. Among the unsuccessful bidders were San Mateo Mayor Hugh Wayne, a Millbrae businessman, a member of the San Francisco Phoenix Organization and a South San Francisco automobile dealer. South San Francisco Councilman Frank Mammini served as auctioneer. A portion of the funds received for the antique vehicle will be used to restore an even older 1915 model pumper owned by the fire department, according to Chief John Marchi. (Post Photo)

Instead, he too became tangled in the weeds.

The boy was rescued almost immediately, but it was a half hour before Ruspil was pulled from the green waters, Brammer reported.

Man Beaten, Dumped on Bayshore

A San Jose man was found wandering along a lonely Bayshore road in Burlingame late Monday, wearing only his shirt.

He had been beaten and robbed, he said, by two men who offered him a ride from San Francisco to San Jose.

Jack J. Weil, 39, was found by an off-duty California Highway

Patrolman, at about midnight, wandering along the frontage road near Burlingame's shoreline city dump.

Burlingame Officer James Case arrived at almost the same time, and took Weil to Peninsula hospital. Weil was treated and dismissed, when a friend arrived from San Jose with more clothes.

Police said a suspect was captured in San Francisco just before 5 a.m., when police stopped a car for having no license plates.

A passenger jumped from the car and ran, police say, but the driver was arrested when he was found to have Weil's identification, wallet, and credit cards.

D. C. Nuisance Abatement Program Is 'A Success'

12 Fireguttured Structures Are 'Abated'

By FRANK LAPIERRE

"Very successful" is the term used by Daly City attorney Albert Polonsky in commenting on the city's nuisance abatement program started last year to eradicate certain eyesores in the city.

The City Fathers have focused mainly on those dwellings that have been damaged by fire, and subsequently become dangerous playgrounds for children.

Since 1967, the record on wiping out these neighborhood hazards is impressive indeed.

Twelve fireguttured "nuisances" have been abated by owners—either through repairs or tearing down. And of this number, legal suits had been filed against six, but no follow-throughs were necessary because of cooperation by owners. There are 16 cases presently pending at various stages and prompt action to eliminate them has been promised by city officials. The abatement proceedings are time consuming, according to the city.

After notices have been filed, there are the public hearings on the nuisance, followed by (depending on the hearing outcome) issuance of a Declaration of Nuisance. Finally, there is the filing of a suit by the city to compel abatement of the nuisance or the city will take legal action.

"It's a long process designed to protect property owners against unreasonable demands by the city, yet provide the city and its citizens with sufficient tools to abate such nuisances," City Manager David Rowe explained.

Some Daly City citizens couldn't wait for the lengthy proceedings two months ago, and armed with boards, hammers, nails and stamina, took it upon themselves to board up an especially bad eyesore in the east section of the city.

Several children had been hurt at the site and parents were especially irate over the time it was taking to abate the nuisance.

While the city did not intentionally look the other way during the goings-on, there was no interference with the project.

The owner of the eyesore quickly got the hint and repaired the house.

The "vigilantes" made their point throughout the city and similar projects have progressed faster in recent months, according to records on the subject.

Spindrift's Ticket Campaign

The Pacifica Spindrift Players, Pacifica's only community theatre, is in the midst of its 1969-70 season ticket drive which runs through September 15.

Ticket prices are $3, $5, and $8 for adults, high school students, and grammar school students, respectively. Prices include admission to four PSP productions, including:

"Portrait in Black," a murder mystery opening in October; "Barnaby," a fantasy being offered for the holiday season in December; "A Delicate Balance," Edward Albee's latest morality drama, in February; and "The Odd Couple," a smash hit comedy in May.

In addition, the season ticket price will include a special bonus free to season ticket holders: A performance by ACT, the American Conservatory Theatre of San Francisco. The success of the season ticket drive will determine whether or not the ACT will be performing in Pacifica.

Since season ticket holders will be the only recipients of this free bonus, subscribers are urged to purchase their tickets early.

Tickets may be purchased at the following Pacifica locations: Linda Mar Florist, Linda Mar; Kent Cleaners, Pacifica; Manor; Botique Pot Pourri, Sharp Park; Periwinkle Art Gallery, Pedro Point; or at any Pacifica bank. Ewald Travel Service of San Bruno is also an official ticket agency.

'Portrait in Black' Players Are Sought

Tryouts for the opening show of the Pacifica Spindrift Players' 1969-70 season opener, "Portrait in Black," will be held at Oddstad Center, Crespi Drive, Pacifica on Thursday, Sunday, next Wednesday and Thursday, August 21, at 7:30 p.m.

The play, by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts, is being presented through special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc. of Hollywood, and will be directed by Aubrey Lumley.

Eight roles are open, and no pre-casting has been done in keeping with the players open casting policy. Five of the parts are for males, including one ten-year-old boy. Three are for females, ranging in age from 20 through 60.

The play is a murder mystery, concerning the family of a San Francisco shipping tycoon, his untimely death, and the effect it has on his family, friends, and employees. Suspense builds through blackmail, discovery, and confession, additional crime, and love.

Family Forum

"Portrait in Black," first played on Broadway with Claire Booth Luce in the lead role and was later made into a movie starring Lana Turner.

Much of the action takes place on the Peninsula coastline around Devil's Slide.

All persons interested in reading for parts are urged to attend one of the casting sessions. Anyone wishing to just "sit it" and see how castings are done may attend also.

Beside acting roles, there are many "roles" open in the capacity of stage crew.

These behind the scene personnel are responsible for properties, set construction, lighting, sound effects, costumes, makeup and other areas of theatre production.

'Labels Are Stuck On All Teen-Agers'

"Labels are being stuck on all teenagers. Drugs, pot, drunk driving, draft resisters, are slapped on even those who have no part in it. The biggest hurdle teenagers face is proving that everyone is not all bad, and teenagers do have good points," opined Naomi Izumizaki, Oceana graduate in the class of Spring 1969.

Naomi, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Izumizaki, is preparing to enter San Francisco State College in the fall and, though she is confident of her desire to learn and to be a part of the changing collegiate scene, she is uncertain of just how the new environment will effect her personally.

"Students are waking up to realize that there are great inequalities all around-between the rich and the poor, black and white and the educated and the illiterate. Everyone's always saying that the young have to do something, since parents are too old for change, so students are doing their part, or at least trying."

"I can't really predict what my reactions would be, next year. San Francisco State has had major events, and no one knows what may happen," she continued.

NAOMI HAS AN OUTSTANDING scholastic record and a variety of interests, a situation which has led to some indecision as to what her ultimate goal will be in school.

"I really don't have any definite plans at the moment for a major, but I am interested in English. But eventually, my interests jump from child development and homemaking to social work or writing, so my first two years at state are general courses."

Naomi's experiences in high school have helped to greatly diversify her interests and give her valuable experiences in a variety of fields.

She has been a scorekeeper for the swim team for three years and for four semesters she was a member of the California Scholarship Federation and during that time she served as assistant historian and historian of the honor group.

DURING HER SENIOR YEAR she was selected as a youth representative to the Pacifica City Council from Oceana and as a result of that appointment she was given a seat on the Oceana Student Council.

Her interest in journalism was whetted by her job as Oceana reporter for the Pacifica Tribune.

This past semester she was named Senior Homecoming princess and during all four of her high school years she served on various dance decorating committees as well as the canned food drive and the spirit week activities. She twice took part in the car wash sponsored by her class.

"This year I participated in the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Contest and won the award for our school. The contest involved a number of general questions about homemaking situations and the award was a specially designed charm for a bracelet.

Also, this past year, my civics class went to the San Francisco Court House where mock trials were being held. Law students played the parts of lawyers but a real judge presided. I was one of the jurors on a case," Naomi recounted.

Naomi is an advocate of modular scheduling and feels that the new mode of programming has helped her scholastic and personal development.

"MODULAR SCHEDULING this year and "zero" period in my junior year really boosted independent action and individual study and this will certainly help me in college and in my older years.

"It was especially great this year with modular scheduling at Oceana because I had many chances to talk with my teachers personally.

"I think I'm going to miss the entire atmosphere of close knit people at Oceana. Since it is a small school, I had so many opportunities to be a part of endless activities. I'll miss being a part of the swim team scorekeepers because that meant a lot. I'll miss going to all the football and basketball games, when I knew almost all the members of the teams.

"But, on the other hand, I'm really looking forward to college and all the things to do there," she said.

Coast Activity Changes Noted By the PBR

Pre-school classes begin again the week of September 29 for the fall semester. Registration for Pacifica residents will be September 22. Fee will be $8. Non-resident classes start September 24, $9.

All registration will be received at the City Park, Beach & Recreation Department, 170 Santa Maria Avenue from 9-12 and 1-5.

Classes are limited to 15 children and children are limited to one class.

The change in the season brings new colors to the Park, Beach & Recreation Department, too.

Fall programs this year will include Creative Dance for children and tiny tots (children's Court Players who have done such a fine and fun job this summer, Children's Theatre, Acrylics, Ceramics, Dance-Exercise, Bridge, Candle-making, and Ski School along with the Aquatics Program of Recreational Swim, Family Swim, Sea Lions Swim Team, Teen Swim, and Swi-Gym, 'N' Jog.

A special Christmas Flea Market, "The Elf Market" is also planned.

Westlake Center Sets Style Show

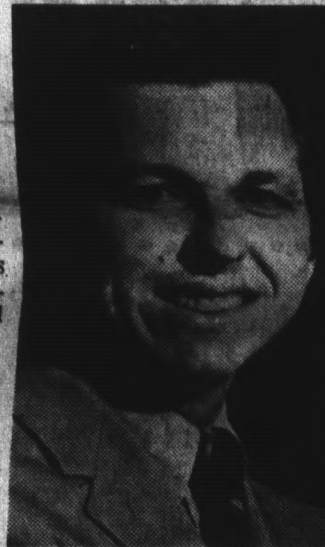

"Back-To-School" will be the theme Saturday when Westlake Shopping Center opens its Mall to teen-agers and collegians, while presenting a fashion show aimed at the younger set, at 1 p.m.

Along with an array of ready models will be Johnny Holliday, rock and roll radio personality, who will serve as commentator. He will be assisted by Miss Connie Howard at the piano.

Coordinating the event is Mrs. Claire Scalla, fashion expert of The Fashion of Westlake.

The Westlake production is unique, in that the entire show will be held outside on an especially constructed stage and floral ramp.

Models will represent such Westlake stores and services as H. Liebes, Penney's, George's of Westlake, Sears, Pauson's, Sue Scott Apparel, Lass and Laddie, Casual Aire, Mildred Bartel's, The Fashion, Jay-Vee, Herrmann's Baby News, Grant's, New England Shop, Fern Warner Maternity,

JOHNNY HOLIDAY

Kay Jewelers, Mr. H. Luggage, Singer Sewing Center and Woolworth's.

The piano stylings of Miss Howard will begin at 12:30 p.m., followed by Holliday and the style show.

There is no admission charge.

YWCA Fall Widget World Nursery School Signups

The San Mateo County YWCA today announced the opening of fall semester registration for its Widget World Nursery School.

Classes are held in the annex of the Westlake Lutheran Church, Avalon Drive and Westmoor Avenue, Daly City.

Through the Nursery School program, children are introduced to various artistic materials, dress-up, play with blocks and toys, outdoor play and water play.

Group activities provide for self expression through rhythms, games, dance, song and story time. This program can contribute much to a child's physical and mental growth, to his social adjustment and personal happiness.

Widget World is a state-licensed nursery and beginning with the new fall term, and its new director Mrs. Joyce Call, will operate along new lines. Classes will run from 9:30 to 12:00 noon on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday for children 2 years 9 months to six years.

The school term will begin September 17 and run on a school year basis with tuition paid once a month on a prorated basis. Children may be registered for 2, 3 or 4 days per week. Because the Nursery School is basically a co-operative program, Mothers will be required to participate in the school one day every other week.

They will find working with other mothers and children a stimulating and rewarding experience as well as an excellent opportunity to watch their children at play with others. Registration will begin immediately.

Coast Rock Sounds Friday At Summer Teen Program

This coming Friday night, August 15th, The Pacifica J-Teenagers' summer program will close August with the rock sounds of "I. W. Harper." The dance will be held at Oddstad

Park from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Also planned is a light show by "Holy Sins." The Northern J-Teenagers will bring their program to a close for the summer with a dance at Fairmont Park on Friday night. Sounds for the evening will be provided by "Gypsies Overland Caravan." The activity will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The Pacifica Teen Club, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach & Recreation Department, will go to Marin, Town & Country Club and Tiburon Saturday.

What to give your wife for her birth day.

Baby, have we got a solution. It's called money. It'll do all sorts of crazy things. Like make rooms appear around your home. Bedrooms, family rooms and bathrooms. You'll be surprised how a little extra money can give you a lot more room.

There's no sense crying over high mortgage interest. Soaring interest on new homes can be a big pain in the pocketbook. And there's no end in sight. All the more reason why you should give serious thought to increasing the size of your present home. Then again, maybe all you need is some cash to slap on a coat of paint. Or lay a new carpet.

Keep little additions from costing a bundle. That's where First Western Bank comes into the picture. We've got the bucks to back your ideas. At reasonable prices. So, if you're shopping around for $7,500 or less, come on in. Let's face it, we didn't get to be a $900 million bank by saying no.

SSF's Penny Carnival Is On Friday

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department's annual City-Wide Penny Carnival on Friday will begin the day's festivities with the ever popular and colorful carnival parade of gaily decorated floats and out of this earth costumes of participants from the various recreation areas and playgrounds. The 1969 theme for the carnival parade will deal with the timely and exciting "A Trio to Outer Space." The parade from the Magnolia parking lot, Magnolia and Grand Avenues, will proceed down Grand Avenue to Orange Avenue and on to Orange Memorial Park. Awards will be given for the funniest, most weird and most unique costumes in six years and under competition and 12 years and under competition. Awards will be given in float competition for the best depicting "Theme," "Most Children Involved" and "Most Unique" float. Music for the parade will be furnished by the award winning Kingsmen Drum and Bugle Corps. The carnival parade will start from winners. The ever popular "Greased check them for safe keeping at a.m. to collect lunches.

Miss Lara, David Brill Married

Linda Marie Lara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lara Jr. of San Bruno, was married recently at St. Robert's Church to David Michael Brill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brill of South San Francisco. The couple is now at home in South San Francisco after a wedding trip to Carmel and Disneyland. As she approached the altar with her father, Linda was wearing an A-line dress with a bateau neckline, long pointed sleeves, and a train appliqued with Alencon lace and seed pearls. She added a matching mantilla veil. Linda's bridesmaids were gownned in yellow chiffon with white satin inverted panels down the back. Mrs. David Brandi of Millbrae was the matron of honor and bridesmaids were Susan Cannuli of Millbrae and Diane Lara of Livermore, cousins of the bride. Patrick Brill of South San Francisco stood with his brother as best man, and guests were escorted to their seats by another brother, Tim Brill of South San Francisco; Thomas Lara of Burlingame, brother of the bride; and Tony Cannuli of San Francisco, uncle of the bride. Paul Steven Lara of San Bruno, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. A reception followed at the American Legion Hall in San Bruno. Linda attended Capuchino High School while David studied at South San Francisco High School. He went on to the College of San Mateo.

Mary Vinks And David Hough Wed

St. John's Lutheran Church in Sacramento was the setting for the recent marriage of Susan Mary Vinks of that city and David O. Hough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Hough of San Bruno. Susan, daughter of Dr. Walter A. Vinks and the late Mrs. Vinks, wore a long gown of organza over taffeta trimmed with pink satin ribbon. Her headpiece was a pearl and crystal-trimmed rose and secured her elbow-length veil. Long petal pink Saki cloth dresses with Watteau trains were worn by the maid of honor Annamary Speed, and the bridesmaids, Joy Stephens, Joan Garvin, Anne Lynch, and Joyce Hough, sister of the bridegroom. Kristy and Kim Kragthorpe, the flower girls, were frocked in pink cotton with white lace. Billy Kragthorpe and Kent Zittel were the ring bearers. Perry Hough, on leave from his Army base in Alaska, was his brother's best man. Ushers were Paul Hough, another brother; Michael Vinks, brother of the bride; and Steve Richter and Steve Hall. After a reception at the Mansion Inn in Sacramento, the couple departed for a honeymoon in Canada. They will live in Davis. Susan was graduated in June from the University of California at Davis and will enter the graduate school of music there in the fall. David was graduated from Capuchino High School and UC Davis and will enter the Davis Medical School this fall.

Delicious, Attractive And Easy to Prepare

GOOD MORNING, good cooks.

Recently a friend was describing her menu for a dinner she was planning and exclaiming over the entire. How delicious it was, how attractive and easy to prepare. I was most intrigued and asked to have the recipe. She replied, "It's one of yours."

A home, it's later than I think when I don't even remember one of my own recipes. I hurried home and checked my files, and do you know? She's right. It is terrific.

HAM RICE AND CHICKEN BREAST CASSEROLE

- 6 chicken breast, boned
- 6 slices cooked ham
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon marjoram
- ½ teaspoon tarragon
- ½ pound butter or margarine
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ pound mushrooms, chopped
- 1 cup almonds, chopped
- 2 tablespoons diced pimento
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Dry the six boned chicken breasts and season with the one and one-half teaspoons salt, one teaspoon pepper and one-half teaspoon each marjoram and tarragon.

Saute the cup of almonds in three tablespoons of the butter, remove almonds, add more butter and saute the sliced onion and half pound mushrooms. Combine the two cups rice with the almonds, mushrooms, onion, two tablespoons pimento and half teaspoon salt and fourth teaspoon pepper and set aside.

Saute the chicken breasts in the same skillet, adding more butter to brown them. Rinse the skillet with a little white wine or cream and pour this over the chicken, ham and rice when you have them arranged in the baking dish.

Butter a large baking dish. Place a slice of ham in the dish, on top of this, a mound of the rice mixture and then the chicken breast. Wrap the ham around the rice and chicken and hold with a tooth pick. When you have the six completed, pour the wine or cream over all. Cover the entire dish with foil and bake in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes.

THIS NEXT ENTREE isn't as glamorous as the first one, but it is mighty tasty and attractive too. A beef pie with vegetables and a rich crust to top it off.

COLONIAL BEEF PIE

- 2 lbs. lean beef stew meat
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 2 Tablespoons oil or drippings
- 1 can consommé
- ½ cup Sauterne wine or water
- 4 carrots
- 3 stalks celery
- 12 small white onions

Cut the two pounds beef into generous chunks. Combine the teaspoon each garlic salt and paprika with the one-fourth teaspoon ginger and two tablespoons flour. Sprinkle over beef and mix until well dredged. Brown the meat in the two tablespoons hot oil. Add the can of consommé, any remaining seasoned flour, and the wine (or water), cover and simmer for 45 minutes.

Pare and slice the four carrots, slice the three stalks celery into large pieces; peel the onions. (Or if you are sorta lazy, as I am, just buy a can of small onions) Parboil the vegetables about 5 minutes. Add the drained vegetables to the meat; cover and simmer until meat and vegetables are almost tender.

Turn into 10x16-inch oblong baking dish. Cover with pastry; seal edges to edge of dish; prick top crust. Bake in a hot oven (425-degrees) until browned - about 25 minutes.

COLONIAL PASTRY

- 1½ cups sifted all purpose flour
- three-fourths teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon rosemary
- ½ teaspoon thyme
- ½ cup shortening
- 3 or 4 Tablespoons cold milk or water

Sift together the one and one-half cups flour, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon rosemary and half teaspoon thyme. Cut in the half cup shortening. Add the 3 or 4 tablespoons liquid mixing into a stiff dough. Roll out on floured board to fit top of baking dish. Serves 6.

For a quick and easy dessert with these dishes or with any dinner try this ice cream pie. It's from a cookbook by Pillsbury.

ICE CREAM PIE

- 1 roll refrigerated Slice 'n' Bake Cookies
- 1 quart ice cream
- ice cream topping

Lightly grease and sugar bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Slice cookie dough one-eighth inch thick. Line bottom and sides of pan with cookie slices, overlapping slightly to form a scalloped edge (use about ½ roll). Bake in 375-degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes, until light golden brown. Cool.

Fill with ice cream balls. Freeze at least 2 hours before serving. Just before serving, drizzle with ice cream topping.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL HOWARD A. LOONEY being congratulated by his advisor, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Sullivan, upon news of the Third Battalion receipt of the Reserve Officers Association award.

Top Honors For Bruno Marine

The Commandant of the Marine Corps has announced the selection of the 3rd Battalion, 23rd Marine Regiment as the most outstanding Battalion of the organized Marine Corps Reserve.

The Battalion, which is headquartered at San Bruno, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Howard A. Looney, has five companies located in northern California and Nevada. They are Headquarters and Service Company, San Bruno, California, Company "I", Reno, Nevada, Company "K", Stockton, California, Company "L", Santa Rosa, California, and Company "M", San Rafael, California.

Upon the recommendation of the 4th Marine Division headquarters and the director, 12th Marine Corps District, General Leonard F. Chapman, Commandant of the Marine Corps, issued a bulletin declaring the 3rd Battalion as the recipient of the highly coveted reserve officers association award.

The Battalion was selected for its overall excellence primarily because of its high state of mobilization readiness plus its annual training duty performance. Following the unit's two weeks of annual training duty at Camp Pendleton, it was noticed that they "were able to develop into a highly effective and flexible unit. This battalion is especially strong in aggressive, decisive action in the field."

S.S.F. Ruling on Duplexes Is Appealed by Minister

A South San Francisco minister is appealing a decision by the city's planning commission to allow construction of an 18-unit "dwelling group" at the northern end of Camaritas Avenue.

The Rev. Gilbert Vieira, minister at Aldergate Methodist Church, filed his appeal of the controversial commission decision with the council this week. A public hearing was scheduled September 2.

Commissioners reversed their decision of two months ago last week, and approved the use permit application of William Botteff for a duplex "cluster" development on the vacant 1.3-acre parcel.

In approving the use permit for nine duplex buildings on the site, commissioners overruled the recommendations of City Planner Daniel Pass and most of the city's major department heads.

When the use permit application was first submitted to the commission in April, it was denied by a four-to-three vote.

Botteff appealed the commission decision to the council, and the denial was upheld. Councilmen advised the applicant to revise the plans and reapply through the commission.

According to Pass, the plans resubmitted were identical to those turned down in the initial application, but commissioners voted four-to-two to grant the use.

In his letter of appeal, the Rev. Vieira states that the "unexplained inconsistency" of the commission's action in approving the permit "raises serious questions about the responsibility of this agency in serving the present and future welfare of our residents."

"In a day when population density is increasingly creating problems and open space is virtually disappearing and a great amount of shoddy and inefficient housing is dominating the landscape, it becomes imperative that planning commissions exercise integrity in observing development guidelines and zoning ordinances," the Rev. Vieira's letter states.

He said the applicant returned to the commission with a request identical to the one denied at his first hearing.

"Not only did the city planner report the same findings, but additional testimony opposing the application was submitted. However, inexplicably the commission by a majority vote reversed its previous decision."

Pass has maintained that approval of more than nine units on the site, which is adjacent to the Alta Loma School, would amount to "abandoning the precepts of sound planning."

"The area is slated for 'R-1' single-family residential development, and, ideally, no more than four or five units should be allowed," he said.

He said approval of 18 units on the parcel would be a violation of the city's general plan and "all other guidelines for orderly development."

According to the planner, the applicant's plans exceed the acceptable density level for the parcel by more than 100 percent.

Though Pass, the city engineer, landscape specialist and police chief have expressed opposition to the proposed development, it apparently has the support of most residents of the immediate neighborhood.

At the public hearing before the council May 19, the applicant presented petitions of support signed by most of the neighborhood residents, who indicated they would prefer any development of the vacant site "to no development at all."

Cigarette Tax Funds For Cities

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced distribution of $6,981,563 to counties and cities as the July apportionment of cigarette tax.

San Mateo County's share was $2,032,111.

This amount represents 30 percent of the revenue deposited in the Cigarette Tax Fund during the month of July 1969.

The city apportionments in San Mateo County:

Atherton $1,687.25; Belmont $6,074.83; Brisbane $2,187.94; Burlingame $17,398.57; Colma $579.71; Daly City $22,362.44; Half Moon Bay $1,148.42; Hillsborough $1,800.98; Menlo Park $12,133.07; Millbrae $7,850.82; Pacifica $8,981.07; Portola Valley $1,171.77; Redwood City $24,160.53; San Bruno $10,964.25; San Carlos $11,574.79; San Mateo $32,271.46; South San Francisco $25,252.65; Woodside $1,139.15.

WAITING FOR FARES? In recent weeks Yellow Cab Company vehicles have been seen parked on various streets in the vicinity of the Daly City Bay Area Rapid Transit District station on Knowles Avenue. Hopefully their meters aren't turned on. The station will not be in operation for at least another three years! Actually, the City Council recently okayed the temporary parking site after the company moved their offices to the corner of Knowles and Junipero Serra from their previous stand on Mission Street. (Post Photo)

ZONA SMITH RECENTLY received a Quality Step Increase for her outstanding service with the Resident Officer in charge of Construction, Naval Facilities Engineering Command Contracts, Pacific, in San Bruno. The presentation was made by Captain Arthur P. Minwegen, Resident Officer in Charge of Construction, who expressed the appreciation of the Navy for Mrs. Feaver's superior performance in the management of procurement contracts in support of the Navy's construction efforts in the Pacific Ocean Area. Zona lives at 1603 Shoreview, San Mateo.

CSM Slices Tax Rate

San Mateo Junior College District's $17 1/2 million final budget for fiscal 1969-70 was adopted last night, with a tax rate reduced roughly three-quarters of a cent from preliminary projections.

District trustees, meeting at College of San Mateo, pegged the levy at 64.78 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

That is approximately 1 1/4 cents more than the 1968-69 rate. Virtually all of the increase is traceable to a special state-authorized override to offset an assessed valuation loss caused by California's recent income tax rebate. The preliminary 1969-70 rate had been figured at 65.52 cents.

The budget total of $17,578,550 is up $3.4 million from last year's level, largely to cover the start-up costs involved in operating two new colleges (Skyline, opening in September in San Bruno, and Canada, which began last fall).

Other major factors necessitating the budget boost include the district's continued rapid enrollment growth (expected to climb 20 per cent this year to 12,000, in terms of full-time students alone) and cost-of-living salary adjustments for employees.

The relatively slight impact of these expense items on the tax rate is due to the district's big gain in total assessed valuation, up nearly 9 per cent from 1968-69, to a record-breaking $1.8 billion.

TAKES COMMAND

HONOLULU — U. S. Air Force Captain Anthony J. Kameen, son of Mrs. Margaret C. Kameen of 508 Skyline Drive, Daly City, has assumed command of the 61st Military Airlift Wing Headquarters Squadron at Hickam AFB, Hawaii.

Captain Kameen previously served as an executive officer in the 61st. He is assigned to a unit of the Military Airlift Command.

The captain, a graduate of Rioran High School, San Francisco, received an A. B. degree from San Francisco State College and was commissioned there through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Permits For 11 Residences In Pacifica

Building permits for construction totalling $715,100 were issued last month in Pacifica, Chief Building Official Philip W. Mayo reported.

Of 45 building permits issued, 11 were for new residences, three for residential additions, 11 for residential alterations, one new commercial, one commercial alteration, three signs, one swimming pool, one retaining wall, one demolition, two horse barns, one "foundation only," and seven re-issues due to model change.

Building last month compared favorably with construction activity during July, 1968, when permits totalling $426,946, Mayo said.

Construction for the period between July 1, 1968 and July 31, 1969, totalled $7,513,817, compared with $8,741,158 during the similar period in 1967-68.

Free X-Rays Offered

Want a Better Memory?—Be More Attentive

By WILLIAM E. THOMAS

When John Dolan, the "Memory expert" from San Francisco, was tardy for our interview, we jumped gleefully and shouted for all to hear: "Aha, see that: he forgot!"

Not so, we just hadn't seen his phoned-in note that he'd be a bit late.

We'd have been disappointed had he forgotten, since Dolan later explained, "If we forget something, it's partially because we didn't want to remember it." And you know what a jolt to the psyche that can be!

Dolan, who is proprietor of the Dolan School of Memory and Rapid Reading and has been teaching his techniques to persons in industry primarily, now is looking forward to "franchising" his unusual program.

His first venture in this direction was at the Northern California

Franchise and Business Opportunities Show.

Obviously, Dolan hoped to find a college-trained person who wants a business of his own.

"Essentially what is needed," Dolan explains, "is someone who will stimulate people, will keep them motivated; keep them interested in developing their own potential to grow internally."

That sentence portrays a great deal in itself about the Dolan approach to memory and speed reading.

Dolan, who established the memory and speed reading courses at the University of Denver and has been in the Bay Area for some 14 years, has a fantastic capacity for remembering things, if he must.

His first indication to us of this was his invitation to quiz him on what articles appeared on what pages in an issue of

The Times, which he had briefly read, a page at a time.

Dolan's recall was sufficient to impress.

But, even more indicative of his ability to concentrate was the recall of the lengthy serial number on one of our dollar bills.

Forwards, we expected he really could do it; backwards, we weren't ready for it.

That led right into, "How?" Dolan confused us some with his explanations, but enlightened enough to counter it with others.

"What I work with is the nature to numbers," he said. "It is a process of taking numerical information, which has the beauty of infinite sequence and random access and converting into pictures."

Why? He added: "Pictures are more memorable, because they're sensory, whereas numbers are abstract.

... and that's their beauty — that they have no connection at all — there's nothing concrete about an abstraction; and that's the glory, and that's the shame, as far as memory goes, because you can't remember an abstraction."

Question: What do you think of when we talk of the number, "two?"

Answer: "When I think of 'two,' I've got a way of converting it into a consonant with two strokes an 'n.' You see, I have a way of building equivalents to digits and consonant equivalents ... and I use those for a framework of words ... and these words form pictures in my mind."

So, to take it further, "the numeral 'one' becomes a 't' to me. It's a one with a bar through it, so I turn it to a 't,' so if I have 31 it's an 'n' with a vowel in the middle and then a 't,'" he said.

Well, it must be simpler than it sounds, and whatever the system, it seems to work for him and we suppose those persons who have received training from him.

But, you can't apply the same principle to memory.

They are "different things, and yet they are overlaps," he said.

"What we do in reading is to learn first of all to speed up the reading as when you see the printed word."

Dolan believes motivation to be the key to achievement.

"I think that a lot of people lose power of concentration through boredom, habitual inattention," he said.

A way to offset it is to develop a motivation, and when it comes to reading, get to reading so cotton-picking fast that you can't afford to let your attention stray for even a minute."

Dolan urges the reader to be selective.

What you remember basically depends upon what you need, he said, chiding physicians, for instance, who read everyday items the same way they would study their medical cases.

It's needless, he explained. "They really should spend their time on some better use," he added.

"You have to look at the pyramid of knowledge," he advanced.

"I believe you start at the top down. If all you need is a generalized view you start at the capstone of the pyramid."

"If you need more detailed information you go to the next layer, and you keep going, and the bottom layer is infinite detail."

Some technically-trained people need this, but not everyone needs all that technical information under all circumstances. So, you have to consider, "Do I need all this information?"

"The person," he emphasized, "who is motivated, who will work at it will get the results. He learns the technique and uses it."

One must "differentiate between how much of this do I have to know. Is this my specialty? Must I know this cold?" Dolan offered.

Dolan has had to do a lot of traveling with his program, and now he looks at franchising as possibly a way to reduce time on the road.

Additionally, he thinks there is a market for "an economical program in speed reading," to which he adds classes on memory.

Hawthorn by WEST BEND

Give your kitchen a new look with color-bright pots and pans—then team them up with matching range and counter-top accessories! Even-heating aluminum cookware has genuine porcelain finish that will last. The fashionable two-tone color won't fade or lose lustre. It won't burn off, won't discolor due to high heat. And, genuine porcelain is completely dishwasher-safe! The interior of each pan is lined with certified Teflon II—super-tough and scratch-resistant to let you use metal spoons and spatulas. Stick-resistant, too. There's never a need for prying, scraping, soaking or scouring! Come in and see these kitchen "miracle-workers" today—then get set for carefree cooking, carefree cleaning. All items now on display in our stores.

Millbrae Sign Controls Debated

Millbrae Planning Commissioners nearly talked themselves out of recommending a political sign control ordinance Monday night.

On their brief agenda was a report from City Attorney Frank Piombo about a letter he was forwarding to the City Council, outlining the Commission's recommended ordinance, as approved by the Commissioners in June.

The proposed law would establish a $25 fee to be paid by any candidate wishing to post political signs during a campaign, and require forfeiture of 50 cents per sign for each placard not removed within seven days after the election.

Commissioners Edwin Haager and Leslie Turner questioned whether the ordinance could be applied. Eugene Morasoli wondered whether the $25 fee might be too small, and Chairman Robert Treseler had his own doubts.

For 40 minutes they hashed over the possible ordinance, agreeing to strike out a few lines from the proposal, and add a few others.

The additions would emphasize that it is already against the law to post signs on public property, and more clearly define the reasons for forfeiting the deposit fees.

After the proposed ordinance is re-typed, Piombo said, it will be sent to the Council, which requested some such ordinance in the first place.

Commissioners approved an amended application for Russell Kennefick's addition to his home at 1030 Chadbourne Avenue.

A public hearing was scheduled September 22 on adapting a street and highway plan for the city as part of the Millbrae's general plan for development.

Chairman Treseler announced that regular study sessions of the Commission will be held at 7:30 p.m. each meeting date, to enable the Commissioners to move more knowledgeably on topics before them.

The board heard Piombo outline the problems of trying to enforce construction of a building proposed last year by Arby's restaurants at its headquarters at 120 South El Camino Real, and decided to drop the subject.

Carlos Post Initiation

The San Carlos Post No. 585 Ward Party at Menlo Hospital on August 12, leaving from the Post at 1159 Bush Street in San Carlos at 7 p.m. Eight to 10 volunteers are needed to help entertain the patients.

A joint Post and Auxiliary Barbecue Steak dinner is slated to be held in the parking lot of the Post on August 24 beginning at 4 p.m. The day will also include games and entertainment. Reservations must be made three days prior to the barbecue. Taking reservations at the Post will be Eddie Doersam.

Newly appointed Hospital Chairman Bill Konig invites the members to help out in the

Jr. Museum Sierra Trip

A science-oriented adventure students in grades 6-10. Three special pre-trip classes at the museum August 18, 19 and 20 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. will cover the geology, plant and animal life of the Sierra region and check out camping and hiking equipment.

Further information on fees and registration procedure may be had by calling San Mateo County Junior Museum.

School Tax Leaflet Set

Another alphabet soup joining of groups in a common cause was concocted Monday by the Coastside Information Committee and the Citizens' Association for Responsible Education to try to reach all the taxpayers in the Cabrillo Unified School District about the dangers of overcrowded schools.

This is nothing new, of course, but the twist now is that the Doelger enterprises' new Princeton-by-the-Sea unit one of some 220 new homes is open and doing business across Cabrillo Highway from Princeton.

With all those new people about to move in, the local residents formed CIC and for the past two weekends have been handing out "fact sheets" in front of the Doelger model homes warning about the shortage of classroom space and money to provide facilities.

This isn't enough, it was decided at a CIC-CARE meeting yesterday, so something will have to be worked out to tell all the district's taxpayers about this potential new overload, which the committees say will add a classroom of children every six weeks to the already-overcrowded schools.

The county planning commission and other officials haven't been overlooked. They've been termed "lax" by the citizens for allowing this large development without adequate nearby school facilities. A letter-writing campaign is in the offing, a spokesman says.

Three bond issues to provide the school space have failed at the polls in the past 14 months.

Burglary at Mateo Home

A San Mateo home was burglarized sometime on Sunday by a suspect who broke into the single-story residence by shattering a window.

Police said that the thief entered the home of August Barizon, 418 West Hillside, and made off with a variety of items, including a supply of liquor.

$5,000 For PROBE Use

Appropriation of $5,000 from city reserves to assist the work of the PROBE anti-poverty center in Redwood City was unanimously approved Monday night by the City Council.

The contribution was recommended by Mayor Robert H. Bury, head of a council committee that met last week with Clifford Boxley, executive director of PROBE, and others interested in the establishment of a multi-use recreation center in the Redwood City poverty area.

Bury said he and the other council members present Mary Henderson and John Roselli — agreed that, in addition to immediate financial assistance, there is a need for "development of a long range program to insure continuity of the work being performed by the PROBE organization." It is his intention, he said, to make the council committee a regular standing committee to see to it that long range benefits are achieved.

Law Officers' Class Fund

A check for $13,779, representing San Mateo County's share of the 1969 allocation from the California Peace Officers' Training Fund, has been submitted to the Board of Supervisors by Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore.

The county qualified for the money, the sheriff said, by adhering to standards for the selection and training of peace officers set down in state codes. During the year ending June 30, 20 new officers were trained in San Mateo County, Whitmore said, receiving their training at College of San Mateo. The course there meets the state standards, he noted. More than 400 cities and counties in the state have adopted the strict standards of the program, according to Earl R. Strathman, chairman of the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training. In the nine years the program has been in operation, he said, cities and counties which met or exceeded the standards have trained more than 23,000 officers and have received nearly $8 million from the training fund.

Summer Service Program in H.M.B.

Six local teen-agers have been better called Cross-County Reach in this area as the young volunteers come from schools from all over this county, and the trips with their summer elementary students have covered many miles to include a visit to the International Airport, the San Mateo Historical Museum, a visit to KBHK-TV studio, picnic areas, and even a train ride

Officially labeled Cross-Town Reach, the program could be a trip to the San Francisco Zoo, plus study sessions at the Alvin Hatch Elementary School in Half Moon Bay.

The six young people when asked, "Why are you working in the Reach program?" said that they wanted to do something for others, especially children. Pat Kovach, who will enroll at Chico State in September, feels that this summer experience will help decide if she really wants to teach elementary school. Valerie Keach, who goes to Skyline College, wants to be a nurse or a teacher. Steve Powell, graduated from Capuchino High and the only man on the team, will also go to Skyline this fall. He has been especially effective with the small boys. A senior at Notre Dame, Belmont, Monica Tavilan believes it important to do volunteer work as part of her education. Chris Nolan, a senior at Mercy High, Burlingame, is a member of the Red Cross Youth High School Council as is Kathie Richard of San Mateo High School. Both worked as the Red Cross representative of their school and have worked on other projects with elementary school children.

According to Mrs. Linda Nickel, new director of the Red Cross Youth office in Burlingame, and Mrs. Cora Burnester, her assistant, this summer's activity is a "Think-English" program for the children selected from the school in Half Moon Bay for special work. For the six teen-agers it is a course in human relations. Parents of the children are workers in the Coastside flower industry. They come from the Azores or from Mexico. All are recent arrivals and speak little or not English. With the help of a Red Cross interpreter they gave their permission to have their children participate in the Reach program.

When school starts in September and that standard composition, "What did you do this summer?" is assigned, these children are going to have lots to say and write in English, thanks to the work of six teen-agers.

S.M. Woman Home From Manila Duty

Revisiting the life of her war-time imprisonment with the experience of a San Mateo woman, Mrs. Richard D. Moore, who has just returned with her husband from his post with the U.S. Information Agency in Manila. She and her family were interned at Santo Tomas and Los Baños during World War II. Mrs. Moore, the former Barbara Colman, grew up in the Philippines where her father was in the oil business. When USA sent her husband to Manila as Press Attache, she went to Los Baños to see the many changes that have taken place there.

The Moores are spending their home leave in San Mateo with relatives. Colon W. Moore, Richard's father, of 1322 Maple Street; sisters, Mrs. Marjory Marsh of 919 South Delaware Street, and Mrs. Betty Hodges, 741 Birch Street; and brother, Colon W. Moore, Jr., of nearby Hayward. They hope to spend about two weeks in the California mountains.

One of Moore's memorable experiences in Manila was his 16-hour stint on television during the American elections. He furnished American material to the Philippine press, radio, motion pictures, television, libraries, schools and public officials. The Far East is a familiar field to him, before going to Manila he spent five years with USA in Tokyo.

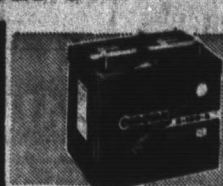

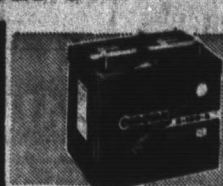

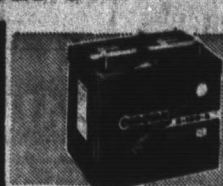

Moore was previously with United Press International in Tacoma, Washington, and with the American Broadcasting Company, Station KGO-TV, in San Francisco. He attended Worcester Polytechnic Institute in Massachusetts, Norwich University in Vermont, Massachusetts State College in Amherst, and won a BA degree at Stanford University. Mrs. Moore was born in Tsingtau, China, and reared in Manila. She lived in Los Angeles for three years. They have three children, Elizabeth, 17; Kenneth, 13; and Roger, 10.

Moore is happy to return to the Philippines after his home leave. He is one of the U.S. Information Agency's 1500 foreign service officers stationed in more than 100 countries to act as an arm of United States diplomacy and to give the world a true picture of the American people.

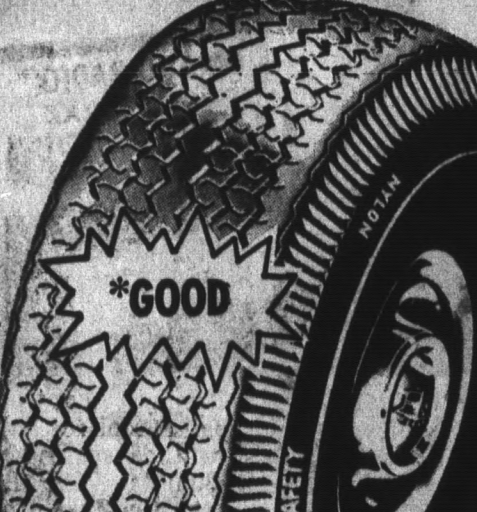

RECORD

The United States regained the world record for payload-carrying July 30, 1959, when Maj. C. V. Haynes and Capt. W. D. Old flew a Boeing B-15 to 8,200 feet with a payload of 15 and on-half tons, at Wright Field, Ohio.

Oktoberfest Now On Chef Bill Mill's Food Agenda

Bill Mills, master chef of The Shadows in San Mateo, has not only been keeping the kitchen action going at a fast pace here, he's been on the double at the San Mateo County Fair Grounds running the dining concession. Bill is also right on top of one of the largest catering jobs of the year — the Annual German Oktoberfest to be held in September, with an estimated guest list of over 20,000 persons in attendance over the three-day celebration. . . . Two new members have joined the International Explosions, now appearing with Russell Lee and Birdie at the Hilton Inn Tiger Room — Jules Brassard of French Guinea and Tom Coster of Malta. Other members are Bernie Abarca of Hawaii and Darryl Adamson of Sweden. Lee, a drummer who made his motion picture debut with Ann Margaret in "Once a Thief," says that in addition to the music the group has been playing, "soul music" will be introduced. Russell Lee, Birdie and the International Explosions are appearing at the Tiger Tuesday through Saturday nights.

As was mentioned in Bright Lights last week, Sal Campagna of the House of Troy has been thinking about coming up with something outstanding to match man's ventures in outer space. Well, Sal says he has it in what he calls "Sal's Summer Special." It's an exceptional Filet Mignon full course dinner for two, which includes a glass of wine, for just $8.50 per couple. Try it and see how right he is. . . . It takes special team work to run a successful restaurant — and Joe and Lou Eroll of the Leaning Tower are proving this fact as they go about their work every day. Joe is usually found in the kitchen supervising the preparation of the daily menu, or with his sleeves rolled up cutting meat. Lou is either behind the bar of pondering over the books and receipts. Both do their part in making this South San Francisco restaurant a smooth-running organization.

Dell'Osso's restaurant was the setting for a recent Pan Am Airlines gathering honoring Gary Christensen, Operations Supervisor here. Nancy Biancalana, Dell'Osso's banquet coordinator, added her own special touch with the message on a huge cake that read: "Chris Has Made The Goin' Great." Honored guests included G. F. Maxwell, vice president of ground and flight operations, and H. Thomas, Pan Am's manager at the San Francisco Airport. . . . Courtesy is the watchword at Art Petri's Joe's of Hillsdale restaurant. Shoppers and business people, alike, flock here daily for luncheon, a quick break in the middle of the day, or dinner. It's a choice place to go for Italian food served in the best San Francisco tradition. Also a cocktail lounge. . . . Princess Papooy and her sister, Princess Papaya, are two little white toy poodles who, until recently, accompanied Baron's organist, Margie Brandon, to work each night. It seems Papooy had to enter Arguello Pet Hospital for an operation on "tricky knees" in both hind legs. It's reported she's recovering nicely, thank you, and has received dozens of long-stemmed roses and many cartons of dog food. . . .

Phyllis Aprile, hostess-owner of Angie's Italian restaurant on Third Avenue, brings a "little bit of North Beach" to the Peninsula with the culinary offerings of Chef Tony. His special preparation of four varieties of Veal Scaloppini and delicious Lasagna have made Angie's a very special dinner house. . . . The Iron Horse restaurant on Maiden Lane is an ideal place to hold sales meetings, office parties, wedding receptions or any festive occasion. Owner Sam Marconi will be happy to make any special arrangements your group may require. Open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. serving both luncheon and dinner. Intimate cocktail lounge. . . . Bell Szlavik, master of the culinary arts, is celebrating the second anniversary of his International Garden restaurant on Broadway, Burlingame. When dining here, be sure you mention that you read about his anniversary offer in Bright Lights — a free martini with each lunch or dinner ordered any day this week.

Jerry and Fred Rapp, owners of South San Francisco's Holiday Inn, knew what they were doing when they introduced the piano talents of Gary Long to patrons of the lounge. His "88" renditions have become request favorites of travelers from all over the world. Drop in for a relaxer and give a listen. . . . Stickney's Stage Coach Room in the Fifth Avenue Center Building, San Mateo, is winning a highly vocal patronage. The new haute cuisine menu installed by Manager Bill Rorer boasts such rare epicurean delights as Gazpacho "Andalouse" (chilled Spanish soup), Escargots Bourguignonne (imported snails in Burgundy) and such festive desserts as Baked Alaska. . . . A frequent diner at Rudolfo's, Palo Alto steak house, is Robert O. McKee, one of the heart transplant survivors from Stanford Hospital. McKee, who has now entered the real estate business, bowls, cycles, fishes and makes radio and television appearances. He has raised money for Dr. Shumway's Cardiac Surgical Research Fund. . . . Just inside the entrance of DarDany's restaurant in Menlo Park is posted one of the most clever creeds for drinkers you'll ever read. Take a minute to read it before going into the dining room.

Pete Petrini, co-owner of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo, is a veteran of restaurateuring since 1936. Pete who lays claim to being a graduate from the "school of hard knocks," worked his way from a bus boy to an owner, from Nevada to California. . . . O.C. Smith, acclaimed as "a singer's singer," opens a three-week engagement in the Fairmont's Venetian Room August 14. Recording on the Columbia label, O.C.'s latest album is "The Dynamic O.C. Smith," which is scheduled for an August release. . . . Famed ventriloquist Edgar Bergen was a recent diner at L'Auberge in Atherton. Wilhelm de Rutter, veteran waiter at the plush French restaurant, served the entertainer Rex Sole. Bergen, who arrived without Charlie McCarthy, his wise-cracking dummy, pronounced the fresh seafood the superior of any he had ever tasted. . . . When the sun sets, nocturnal people come to life — and one of the first fun oases they head for is the Blue Peacock restaurant in Millbrae, where they can dance to the music provided by the Fabulous Romanos and sip cool relaxers. . . .

BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD JOHNSON
Join Mayor Wayne's
"Write A Song Group"

A song writing contest in conjunction with San Mateo's Diamond Jubilee Celebration will find an answer to the question "Do San Mateos really have something to sing about?" Mayor Hugh A. Wayne says, "Home towns have been a favorite subject in both song and story since earliest times — with songs such as "I Left My Heart in San Francisco" and "Do You Know The Way to San Jose?" being two of the latest. Circulars will be available next week through the City's Recreation Centers and Libraries as well as the 75th Anniversary headquarters (465 Concar Drive in San Mateo) inviting entries and setting forth rules of the contest. Professional judges will choose the winning song from among amateur and professional entrants. A Mayor H. Wayne cash award of $50 is being offered. Entrants can submit manuscripts to San Mateo Song Contest, Box 933, San Mateo. Al King, theatrical booking agent and director of Concerto Music Agency, has accepted chairmanship of the song contest.

SAFE AT HOME — Art Brophy, who traded a promising professional baseball career for an exciting life in show business, will be scoring winning runs nightly through August 30 in the V.I.P. Lounge of the new Le Baron Hotel at the San Francisco Airport. Brophy and his talented musical group will include songs ranging from a big band sound to intimate and relaxed melodies.

The Mills Square Restaurant doors are swingin' once again — with new faces, menu, service, and new management. Curtis Tally and Bill Dentino, owner-managers of the Coffee Plus restaurant in Menlo Park, are your new hosts. Drop in and get acquainted with a whole new operation. . . . Won't be many more weeks before the long-awaited opening of Nick Gust's latest Pacifica restaurant venture will take place. An all-Mexican menu, colorful Mexican decor, and Mexico's favorite son, Al "Papagayo" Williams at the helm. A complete rundown on this in next Friday's Bright Lights column. . . . In celebration of the second anniversary of Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, a popular family restaurant located among the produce warehouses in the Produce Terminal of South San Francisco (just off Airport Blvd. approaching the Bayshore Freeway), Yolanda and Chuck Winstead will serve their guests vintage champagne and cake "on the house" during the August 11 through 16 festivities. There will be treats for the children, too. So bring the entire "clan." . . . The Bob Lucas Trio (George Ballantine, Mickey McPhillips and pianist-singer Bob Lucas) entertains at the sophisticated Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto on Friday and Saturday evenings. Lucas, whose first record is about to be released, entertains at the grand piano solo during the week.

Have you heard Buddy Baer's favorite gal, Vickie, at the Golden Steer pianobar? She can all but make the ivories stand up and take a bow. You might even strike up a conversation with her hubby, Buddy — he's a frequent visitor at this Woodside Road steak house. . . . As a reminder: Chuck Winstead and Yolanda of Yolanda's Terminal Cafe make their own Minestrone Soup — and it's served with every meal. Is it any wonder Yolanda's recipe is one of Shirley Temple Black's favorites! . . . The Greek Taverna has been packed to the rafters these past few evenings, as audiences turn out to savor the club's excellent Greek food and ogle the beautiful dancing girls, who cavort to the music of The Trio Orfeo. . . . Leo Marlay, station master of Hals Whistle Stop, is waist deep in blue prints and bids for an extensive remodeling to his Belmont restaurant. Everything from new paneling to carpets and tables down the center of the dining room to enlarge the seating capacity is included in the refurbishing. . . . Don Dianda is being congratulated by many of the regular lunchers or diners at Doros on being named for the eighth straight year as one of the very top restaurants in San Francisco by Holiday Magazine, as mentioned recently. So from Yours Truly, Don, more congratulations!

Old-Time Bar Cookie Worth Try

An old-time bar cookie that's worth reviving.

Open Sandwiches of Toasted Bacon, Cheese and Tomato
Apricot Bars Coffee

APRICOT BARS

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 1/3 cup sifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 large eggs
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 cup medium-fine chopped walnuts

Cream butter and granulated sugar; stir in 1 cup of the flour; spread evenly in greased 8-by-8-by-2-inch cake pan. Bake this base in preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned — about 25 minutes; remove from oven. Meanwhile on wax paper stir together remaining 1/2 cup flour, the baking powder and salt; set aside. Just before base is done, beat eggs until thick and ivory-color; gradually beat in brown sugar, then vanilla; gently beat in reserved flour mixture. Fold in apricots and walnuts. Spread at once over hot baked layer and return to oven until firm and brown — about 30 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool. Cut in 1-by-2-inch bars and remove with small spatula. Makes 32. These bars taste superlative the day they're baked, but can be stored loosely covered.

Apricots: In a small saucepan boil 2-3 cup dried apricots with enough water to cover for 10 minutes. Drain and chop medium-fine.

Easy Tossed Artichoke Hearts Salad

An easy-to-put-together salad we like to serve to guests because they usually appreciate it!

Beef Stroganoff Buck Wheat
Green Peas Bread Tray
Tossed Artichoke Salad
Soft Meringue with Strawberries

TOSSED ARTICHOKE SALAD

1 large cucumber
1 quart torn romaine, packed down
1 jar (6 ounces) marinated artichoke hearts
Olive oil, wine vinegar, salt and pepper

Par cucumber; cut in half lengthwise; with a teaspoon scoop out seeds and discard; slice cucumber thin crosswise; wrap tightly and refrigerate. Just before serving, in a salad bowl toss together cucumber and romaine. Turn artichokes with their liquid over the other vegetables; halve artichoke pieces. Add remaining ingredients in proportions you like and toss. Makes 6 servings.

Chocolate Peanut Pie For Kiddies

Youngsters usually enjoy this combination of flavors.

Skillet Lamb Chops with Onion, Celery and Carrot

Mashed Potatoes Salad

Chocolate Peanut Pie

CHOCOLATE PEANUT PIE

1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream
1 1/2 cups cold milk
1 package (3g ounces) instant chocolate pudding
1/2 cup chopped cocktail peanuts

1-inch graham cracker pie crust, baked

Beat cream and refrigerate. Into a small mixing bowl turn the milk; add chocolate pudding; beat until well blended — about 1 minute. Fold in one-half of the whipped cream and the peanuts. Turn into graham-cracker crust. Chill until firm. At serving time, garnish with remaining cream and extra chopped peanuts.

Indian Sausage

Even American Indians made a primitive form of sausage.

Chopped, dried meat was combined with dry berries, then pressed into a cake to eat when fresh meat was scarce.

Shrimp a Zesty, Foolproof Way

When it comes to seafoods, men like shrimp... kids like shrimp... and homemakers love shrimp because, somehow or other, shrimp dishes just seem to be foolproof. What's more, no matter in what way she serves the shrimp, a hostess can be certain that everyone will be eager for a taste. There's never a turned-up nose when these tasty crustaceans are brought to the table.

Shrimp with Crunch is a brand new zesty recipe that can't help winning compliments for the one who prepares it. A chopped green pepper and golden corn flake crumbs coating with the pleasing tang of a bit of mustard combined with Worcestershire and liquid pepper sauces, provides the crunch. A deliciously subtle Lime Butter Sauce is the final elegant touch that makes this particular shrimp dish a very special one.

Served as an entree, Shrimp with Crunch will please both family and friends. But that's not all you can do with it. The tangy crusted shrimp make marvelous hors d'oeuvres, too. Guests will enjoy spearing their own and dipping them in the Lime Butter Sauce as they visit and revisit your buffet table.

Shrimp with Crunch can be highly recommended for many occasions. Incidentally, too, this is one of those recipes that husbands who like to play chef might well want to add to their repertoires. It's a fine one and as typically masculine as a recipe can be.

The Lime Butter Sauce, too, is something that can be prepared to go with other fish and seafoods. It would, for instance, be delicious over broiled trout... an easy way to make a favorite fish even more delicious.

Try Brunch Specialty On Sunday

One of the nice things about Sunday is the 2-meal schedule. Another is the leisure that allows time for special brunch dishes with party airs — waffles with creamed ham, for instance.

Stewed Rhubarb with Strawberries
Buttermilk Waffles with Ham Bits in Cream Sauce
Pickled Watermelon Rind Coffee

BEDTIMER "SOUPER SNACK" — Sometimes a snack helps bring sleep, especially if it includes a relaxing hot liquid. For a snack that pleases, try hot green pea soup with chopped orange garnish and wheat germ toast fingers.

Ham Bits in Cream Sauce: Blend 1 can condensed cream of vegetable or chicken soup with one-third cup milk; add 1/2 cup chopped cooked ham and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Heat; stir now and then. Do not boil. Serve over waffles. Garnish with toasted slivered almonds. 3 to 4 servings.

Everything Rabbit In A Pyramid

Teen-agers take joy in building sandwiches of a layer of this and a layer of that. The Everything Rabbit is a pyramid arrangement made with soup. It's so easy even a sub-teener could manage.

The Everything Rabbit
Celery Sticks
Choco-Cookie Stacks
Milk
Tea

THE EVERYTHING RABBIT
1 can (10-1/2 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
1 can (10-1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup milk
3 English muffins, split and toasted
6 tomato slices
6 sweet onion slices
6 crisp cooked bacon slices
Stir cheese soup until smooth. Gradually blend in tomato soup and milk. Heat; stir often. Arrange tomato and onion slices on muffin halves. Pour soup sauce over. Top with bacon. 6 servings.

Choco-Cookie Stacks: Spread 8 chocolate wafers with raspberry jam. Top 4 of the wafers with softened vanilla ice cream; cover with chocolate wafer, jam side down. Freeze until firm. Serves 4, 2 stacks each.

An Unusual Snack From The Islands

Have you noticed how many unusual food ideas drift to us from the Islands — luau and other fascinating ideas such as this stacked sandwich which is served hot.

Hawaiian Sandwich Stack
Crisp Pickle Slices
Chopped Pistachio Nuts over Canned Rice Pudding
Milk
Tea

HAWAIIAN SANDWICH STACK
6 servings sliced ham
6 slices pineapple
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10-1/2 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
6 slices pumpernickel bread, lightly toasted

In skillet, brown ham and pineapple in butter. Heat soup; stir. Top each bread slice with ham and pineapple. Pour soup over. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Fiesta Time With Tasty Veal Cutlets

It's fiesta time when you serve veal cutlets with a South-of-the-Border accent. First, these cutlets are breaded, then cooked slowly with color-laden tomatoes and their favorite herb companion, oregano. Zucchini squash adds a novel note.

The preparation of Mexican Veal Cutlets with Zucchini goes most easily if the cutlets are chilled before browning, says a meat expert with the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This makes the egg-crumbs coating adhere best.

For six veal cutlets, cut one-half inch thick, use one beaten egg and two-thirds cup of fine dry bread crumbs. Brown the coated cutlets in one-fourth cup of lard or drippings; pour off drippings if there are any left.

Now add one (16 ounce) can of tomatoes, one and one-half teaspoons salt and one-half teaspoon oregano. Cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes. Add to the veal-tomato combination three medium-sized zucchini squash, cut crosswise in one-half inch slices. Continue cooking approximately 15 minutes longer. Remove meat and zucchini to hot platter. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. This gives six servings for luncheon or dinner.

STRAFFLE
Take an old European favorite — The Waffle — top it with lemon pudding and strawberries... and presto... a two-story Straffle. Thaw 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced strawberries; drain. (If you can find fresh strawberries use 1 cup strawberry halves.) Combine strawberries with 1 can (1 pound 1/2 ounce) chilled lemon pudding. Allowing 2 waffles per serving, arrange alternate layers of waffle and pudding mixture. Top with coconut. Makes four servings

San Diego Picked For 21st Bake-Off

Bake-off comes of age this year in San Diego. — California's southernmost city. Site of the twenty-first national cooking contest is Hotel Del Coronado, a stately Victorian hotel located on Coronado Island across the bay from San Diego, now celebrating its 200th anniversary.

This 80-year-old hotel is one of the largest wooden structures in America. It boasts a treasure of antiques and rooms rich in wood carvings.

For the second year, three grand prize winners will be named. Champions in convenience mix, flour and refrigerated fresh dough divisions each receive $10,000. An additional $15,000 is awarded to one of these three as Best of the Bake-Off for a total of $25,000.

Along with the three champions, a runner-up in each division wins $2,000. A $1,000 bright idea award goes to one cook in each of the three divisions.

There is no special junior category. Anyone 12 years or older may enter any of the three divisions.

Actually, all 100 finalists at the Bake-Off, March 15-17, 1970, are winners. Each receives an expense-paid trip to San Diego and $100 in cash.

General Electric awards each finalist an American P-7 oven-range. Finalists who have their entry certified by a G-E dealer receive a special appliance prize.

This is the first year artificial sweeteners have played a part in Bake-Off. Either 1/4 cup Pillsbury Sprinkle Sweet or 1 tablespoon Pillsbury Sweet 10 (which has the sweetening power of 1/4 cup sugar) can be used in a recipe entered in the convenience mix division.

Recipes incorporating the use of alcoholic beverages are eligible, provided the use of the ingredient in the recipe is a practical one.

Entries will be judged on: excellence of flavor and taste, appearance, popular appeal, creativity including practical, appropriate use of ingredients, recipe ingredient shortcuts, streamlined methods, and short preparation time.

Again this year, contestants will not be required to submit an official entry blank with the recipe. Entry rules and blanks are available by writing to Pillsbury, Box 679, Dept. 110, Minneapolis, Minn. 55460.

In food stores, they will be found in the refrigerated fresh dough section of the dairy case, in all Pillsbury flour sacks of 5 pounds or more, or wherever Pillsbury convenience mixes are sold.

Entries will be accepted until November 15, 1969, at Pillsbury Bake-Off, Box 409, Minneapolis, Minn. 55460.

Pot Roast Will Need Imagination

Your budget may not permit a trip to all the countries you'd like, but imaginatively you can always travel by means of culinary adventure.

Take Italy, for instance. Famous for its seasonings such as tomatoes, garlic, mushrooms, stuffed olives and green pepper, this country yields inspiration for many entrees. All of these can be starred with good, American beef pot-roast.

Start with one three to four-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast. Dredge this meat with three tablespoons of flour which has been mixed with one and one-half teaspoons salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Brown the meat slowly on both sides in three tablespoons lard or drippings. Four off drippings.

To the browned steak, add one-half cup of sliced onion and one (16 ounce) can tomatoes, one (4 ounce) can mushrooms, drained, three tablespoons chopped green pepper, one-half cup sliced stuffed olives and one-eighth teaspoon garlic salt.

Cover the meat tightly and cook very slowly on top of range, three to three and one half hours or until tender.

Here's Salad Meriting A Celebration

Time to celebrate. Plan an extra special dinner or a celebration lunch with this splendid main dish salad.

SPLENDID MEAT POTATO SALAD

1 medium apple, unpared and diced
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup leftover, cooked meat, cubed (such as beef, steak, chicken, veal, lamb, pork, ham)
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup cubed, cooked potatoes
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 cup cooked peas and carrots
1 medium tomato, cut into wedges
Western iceberg lettuce
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Sprinkle apple with lemon juice. Arrange apple, cubed meat, celery, potatoes, eggs, cooked peas and carrots and tomato in a salad bowl lined with Western iceberg lettuce. Blend mayonnaise, sour cream, prepared mustard, salt and pepper. Serve over salad. Makes 6 servings.

Cauliflower Fontina Is Delightful

A delightful vegetable plate!

CAULIFLOWER FONTINA

(Figure-right Style)

1 medium head (about 1 1/4 pounds) cauliflower
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup grated (medium fine) Fontina (Italian Sharp or Kasser) cheese, lightly packed
Remove green leaves from cauliflower and wash in cold water. Trim stalk level with head; cut cauliflower into fairly thin slices just as you would a loaf of bread. Place in a 10-inch skillet with water and salt; cover and boil just until tender-crisp — about 5 minutes. Drain well. Place in a 9-inch glass pie plate; sprinkle with cheese. Broil, about 4 inches from source of heat, just until cheese begins to melt — about 5 minutes. Do not broil until cheese melts entirely or changes color or it will harden. Serve at once. Makes 3 servings.

Homemade Delicatessen Sandwich

You can make delicatessen-style sandwiches at home with meats and cheeses from the supermarket. Heighten this sandwich delight with a bowl of cream of celery soup.

Iced Coffee
Deli Special Sandwich:
Spread one slice pumpernickel bread with mayonnaise and mustard; top with a slice of corned beef, a layer of coleslaw and a slice of Swiss cheese; add a ring or two of onion and top with another slice of bread.

STEAM PRUNES
Steam prunes dipped first in melted marshmallows and then in shredded coconut are an easy-to-make confection.

Combine two vegetables and let them enhance each other.

1 can (14-ounces) asparagus cuts

1 green pepper, seeded and cut into 1/4-inch wide strips

Into a medium saucepan drain the liquid from the asparagus; add the green pepper.

Bring to a boil; boil for 5 minutes. Add asparagus; reheat; drain. Add salt to taste. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Serramonte High Is to Open Late

Students of Daly City's Serramonte High School are scheduled to officially start classes in their new plant September 15, three days later than other Jefferson High School District facilities.

Trustees approved the schedule last night, upon the recommendation of Principal Louis Martin, via Dist. Supt. Edward Morgan.

Contractors are an estimated 5 per cent behind in the construction schedule, it was pointed out.

September 10-11 and 12 would be "student program validation" days under the revised opening schedule, rather than official classroom dates, Morgan said, with minimum day scheduling September 15 through 19.

Fulltime modular scheduled classes would begin September 22.

Sometime during the week of August 18 through 22 the staff at Serramonte will start moving into the library, administrative offices and the little theatre.

The students would be required to make up possibly two days of school time as a result of the delayed opening.

Morgan indicated one day possibly could be made up at semester break and another day or more during Easter or Christmas vacations.

A TEAM COMPOSED OF GIRL ALL STARS representing Orange Memorial Park, Serra Vista and Buri Buri School defeated the Girl All Stars from Ponderosa and Foxridge Playgrounds and Hillside Recreation Center, 23-16, in the 1969 SSF Recreation and Park Department's Classic held recently at Orange Memorial Park. The 1969 Girl All Stars are Tina Rojas, Denise Garaglia, Georgette Arata, Cathy Sulinski, Roseanne Nieve, Terri McFee, Katy Dunn, Jeanne Paderanga, Phyllis Goyton, Teresa Ponteloni, Janna Schwarian, Kathy Parker, Nancy Lorenzini, Debbie Spivey, Margie Gutierrez, Cathy Sullivan, Diane Medical, Jodi Palla, Vickie Jones, Nona Arnold, Denise McShane, Lenore Corby, Valerie Jones, Lois Spivey, Margie Corby.

'Wescon' Opens at D.C. Cow Palace Next Week

Magnavox Systems, Inc., of South San Francisco, will be one of the more than 70 Peninsula firms that will be exhibiting when the Western Electronic Show and Convention moves into Daly City's Cow Palace August 19-22.

"Wescon" is one of the largest, technical-industrial gatherings in the world and the seventeenth annual gathering will be themed, "Electronics by the Golden Gate."

Some 600 manufacturing companies will use about a quarter-million square feet of space in the huge Cow Palace complex of buildings to display their new products and systems. Contingents of exhibitors from England, Scotland, West Germany, Japan and Canada are expected.

Products chosen as outstanding industrial designs in electronics as judged in national competition, will make up a special display at the Cow Palace, and 24 high school students, chosen in open competition from throughout the 13 western States, will participate in Wescon as "future engineers."

With more than 45,000 engineers, as executives, educators and other members of the electronics industry to register, Wescon visitors have reserved more than 8000 hotel and motel rooms from San Jose through Marin County.

Cow Palace Queens Are To Be Picked

Beauty, poise, personality and riding ability will form the basis for selection of four young equestriennes as queens of the Silver Anniversary Grand National, October 24 through November 2, at the Cow Palace.

Contestants have until midnight, Saturday, September 6, to submit entries, which should include the contestant's name, address, telephone number, age, and, if possible, a recent photograph. Entry forms should be sent to: Contest Manager, Cow Palace, P.O. Box 34206, San Francisco, 94134.

Selections of a rodeo queen, horse show queen, and livestock queen will be made, in addition to a Miss Silver Anniversary Grand National, who will reign throughout the colorful ten-day exposition.

Entrants must be at least 17 years old and able to ride horseback. If living within a 100-mile radius of the Cow Palace, they must be able to provide their own horses for the contest. Mounts will be available for all others.

All four queens will ride in the grand entry events at arena performances, make personal appearances and participate in special civic ceremonies and parades held before and during the Grand National.

Horseshoe, Bocce Ball Tournament

South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department is sponsoring a special double tournament day for adult horse shoe and bocce players on August 23, at Orange Memorial Park.

Adult singles horseshoe players, 18 years of age or older are eligible to enter the tournament which will be held at 10 a.m., Saturday morning.

Two-man bocce teams will be starting play at 1 p.m., Saturday afternoon on the Bocce Courts at Orange Memorial Park at the rear of Tennis Drive.

All contestants must register no later than Friday, August 22, 1969, to be eligible to enter. A fee of $1 per person, per tournament, is charged for entering either of the tournaments.

Entry blanks, or information, may be obtained at the office of the Recreation and Park Department, Magnolia Recreation Center (Grand and Magnolia Avenues) Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Bunker For Pacifica CD

Pacifica councilmen voted Monday to renew their lease on an abandoned World War II bunker in the city for use as a civil defense facility.

Special New Bus Routes For CSM

Six special new bus routes will be proposed to the State Public Utilities Commission to serve students attending San Mateo County junior colleges.

It is hoped that the routes can be in operation for the start of fall semester on September 10.

College trustees paved the way for the action at their meeting last night at College of San Mateo, after voicing their concern over the accessibility of the three district campuses to students living in the extremities of the county, in view both of their earlier decision to end tax-supported transportation and the inadequacy of present transit routes.

Trustees also heard a concerted appeal from three members of their appointed citizens advisory committee on minority programs: Arthur Elliott of South San Francisco, chairman; Mrs. Norman Bernie, Hillsborough, and Elbert Mitchell, East Palo Alto.

The committee members argued that, in Mitchell's words, the district must discharge "a moral commitment" to arrange transportation which will provide an equal educational opportunity for all students.

Planning for the proposed routes was worked out by staff personnel of CSM, Canada College and Skyline College with representatives of San Mateo-Burlingame Transit Company, which will take the application to the utilities commission.

Buses would be operated on a fare basis, and students who qualify for financial aid would be allocated a sufficient transportation allowance to cover the cost of their rides.

As projected, the routes would serve the three colleges as follows:

Skyline College — One route would include Bayshore City, Brisbane, South San Francisco and San Bruno; a second would involve Daly City and Pacifica.

College of San Mateo — A northern route would run through South San Francisco and Daly City, then connect to the campus via Skyline Boulevard and Junipero Serra Freeway.

Daly City Pioneers Police Cadet Training Class

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Daly City is pioneering a cadet police program that will, hopefully, provide fully trained lawmen of the future for the city.

The first of the "experiments" is scheduled to enter the full-time police force in September.

Cadet Terry Hanebeck, 20, entered the training program almost two years ago, shortly after it was established.

A major in law enforcement at College of San Mateo, the husky Hanebeck decided long ago he wanted to become a policeman — a good one!

He easily passed the physical and background tests and was assigned to every imaginable duty required of a novice policeman — from sitting on the complaint desk to making sure the coffee was fresh and hot.

He took it all in stride and learned what he could about the inner workings of a medium-size city police department.

A few weeks ago, Hanebeck was given the crucial written and oral tests to determine if he was suitable for the department. Had he failed, more than two years would have been "down the drain."

"He passed with flying colors," police captain David Hansen said.

Hansen, a strong advocate of the cadet program now has three other young men — all college law enforcement majors from either CSM or City College — entered in the program.

"These are the cops of the future... and we need them badly," according to Hansen.

In a way, Hanebeck is a unique cadet.

He likes what he is doing, is an accomplished scuba diver, lifeguard and skydiver, among other things.

"Time will tell what kind of cops our cadets will make, but I'm of the opinion they'll all be good ones," Hansen commented.

Each of the cadets work about 20 hours a week and earn $2 per hour. They must be 18 years old and able to pass the background and physical tests before entering the program.

They are not armed and have no badge or identification designating them as full-time police. The smart uniforms they wear, however, closely resemble an ordinary policeman's uniform, except the arm patch which notes the wearer is a "Cadet Policeman."

All four Daly City cadets — Hanebeck, Tom Mason, Peter Salvi and Gary Barner (whose brother, Tom Barner, has been a policeman for three years in Daly City) — are getting a first-hand look at the department and the public they deal with from behind a police desk.

At the same time, the public and officials are watching them to see first-hand how the program will work out — and if it will continue.

CHECK LIST — Regular Daly City police officer Rich Seguire (right) goes over routine check sheet with cadet policeman Terry Hanebeck. The cadet will become a regular officer upon reaching his twenty-first birthday in September. Meanwhile, he must participate in the department's training program. (Post Photo)

'Dead', But Unburied

"TODAY MANY PEOPLE die physically at 25, but are not buried for 30 or 40 miserably aching years later."

With this in mind Robert R. Spackman Jr. has produced a book called "Exercise in the Office."

"Exercise," he writes, won't stop you from growing old, but it will prolong your active years.

Spackman defines physical fitness as "having the amount of strength necessary to do everyday activities, including a job, without undue fatigue, to have enough strength and endurance left over at the end of the day to be able to bowl, swim, play golf, dance or enjoy other activities you want to do without becoming exhausted."

While each person's needs are unique, everyone needs strength and endurance and recreation. "Over 60 per cent of the people in the physician's office are sitting there because they are underexercised. . . . This is a sad commentary on the way many of us live. The heart is a muscle that needs daily exercise."

THERE ARE OVER 30 exercises listed in the book that you can do while sitting in your office. They are divided into nine sections. The first is to exercise the neck and shoulders, the last the feet and ankles.

Each exercise is planned to help the body in different ways. The first flexes the neck, the second extends it, the third flexes it laterally, the fourth stretches it.

The section on exercises for the feet and ankles urges the use of desk and chair legs. For example, while sitting in a chair, place the outside of your foot against the leg of the desk, anything that won't move, then turn the foot out and up, attempting to turn the sole of the foot to the outside. Hold for six seconds; relax; repeat the exercise three times during the day with each foot.

To exercise the abdomen, every time you stop at a street light or stop sign, pull your stomach muscles in hard and hold for six seconds.

Chapter three is entitled Advice to the Woman at Home. It advises deep knee bends while doing the dishes, skipping the rope while the clothes are in the washer. Try this one: After you feed the baby, slowly lift him over your head or jump on the bed and flex your knees and do five sit-ups.

OR TRY THIS ONE: After breakfast try to squeeze the stove of refrigerator with your arms to help firm your chest muscles.

As a closing remark, Spackman writes, "Exercise must be part of your daily activities. It must be a habit such as brushing the teeth and combing the hair."

"Remember, we don't stop exercising because we are old—we get old because we stop exercising."

An Outdoor Fling to Ease That Penned-in Feeling!

If the warm, sunny days of summer are giving you that penned-in feeling at home, why not try a fling in the outdoors. It's very easy to do without having to drive three or four hours.

Just across the Bay in the green hills behind Berkeley is an area to relieve you of any penned-in feelings you may have — Charles Lee Tilden Regional Park.

This 2,065-acre park has an excellent 18-hole golf course, a network of hiking and bicycle trails, developed areas for picnicking, an artificial lake for swimming, boating and fishing, a lovely white sand beach, a memorable merry-go-round and pony and train rides, tennis and volleyball courts and a botanic garden of native California plants.

TILDEN IS THE OLDEST and most developed of the East Bay Regional Parks and has within it two of the highest points in the East Bay Hills — Volmer Peak at the southern tip of the park at 1,930 feet and Wildcat Peak in the northern section at 1,250 feet. Wildcat Creek flows through the center of Tilden, providing a home for innumerable species of birds and animals. The hillsides are grass covered, dotted here and there with chaparral. Groves of native bay, oak and redwood trees are intermingled with eucalyptus in the ravines.

Lake Anza with its white Monterey sand beach and almost ten acres of water, makes a perfect spot for the family to let go. The lush lawns surrounding the beach are great places to sunbathe and picnic. Canoes, paddle boats and yak-yaks can be rented. Lifeguards are on duty hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

In the northern corner of the park is an excellent nature area. A complex system of trails leads around Jewel Lake through wooded canyons and open meadows and up to the top of Wildcat Peak.

The trails are fairly short, with well-graded walkways. Black-tailed deer, raccoons, squirrels, rabbits, skunks and opossum roam these 700 acres.

Jewel Lake is the home of various types of ducks with a favorite sight the nesting activity of the red-winged blackbirds. Nests are built in the spring in cattails ringing the lake, and at sundown hundreds of these birds pour over the nearby hills to roost for the night.

IF YOU COME AROUND DUSK to the Jewel Lake meadow, you will be sure to see deer and other animals feeding in the clover meadow built especially to attract animals. Make sure you pick up a trail map and the self-guiding booklet at the naturalist's office.

Perhaps the most memorable feature of Tilden Park, especially for the children, is the merry-go-round that twirls atop a green knoll near the entrance to Anza Lake. Built in 1911, it has bejeweled wooden

Monorail Plan Alarmed Lilly

A LETTER FROM JOHN C. LILLY, former head of the now defunct West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, informed the WBRTA Board in March 1968 that he was "alarmed about the prospects" of the G-E Monorail system being built between San Francisco and International Airport.

Lilly felt the single function system would bleed off substantial revenues from the remainder of the BARTD-type line and "increase the tax load of San Mateo citizens." He based his worry on yet another little publicized letter from his engineer, Ronald J. Fisher, dated March 8.

Lilly went into mourning for about two weeks after WBRTA folded before joining forces with James Carr, chief of San Francisco's Public Utilities Commission.

Coincidentally, certain San Francisco forces have been successful, to date, in shelving the G-E proposal, which would have been constructed at no cost to any taxpayer. The proposal for a monorail to the airport comes back before the SF Board of Supervisors next month and odds are it will once again be shelved — this time until the current $250,000 BARTD extension study for a rail link between Daly City and the airport is completed.

BUT THE FACT concerning this system, coupled with the planned BARTD-type extension, were fully explained to Lilly in Fisher's letter almost two years ago! At that time it was brought out the entire fixed rail system down the Peninsula might depend on revenues produced by airport traffic.

One major objection citizens living along the right-of-way might have towards the monorail was the visual pollution it would have on neighborhoods it passed through. Fisher explained that the cars traversed a bulky beam that hung some 41 feet off the ground. Of course he failed to bring out that any aerial line down the Peninsula — whether it be monorail or BARTD extension — would have the same effect. Nor was it ever mentioned in the exchange of letters the feasibility of a grade level or subway system along the entire eight-plus mile route into the airport.

Matter-of-fact, neither Lilly nor Fisher dared mention HOW they would link into the airport from the fixed rail system.

(It was later vaguely brought out in subsequent reports that passengers would hustle off the train into some sort of Mickey Mouse shuttle system.)

INTERESTINGLY ENOUGH, Fisher wrote Lilly that "airport architects have affirmed in discussion with the WBRTA staff that their airport plans can accommodate either (monorail or BARTD) plan equally well."

Throughout, the worry about "revenues" was expressed freely. This was also the focal point of a recent SF board of Supervisors meet on the matter of the BARTD extension study. A majority of Supervisors, after receiving letters of support from Carr and Planning Director Alan Jacobs, likewise expressed worry they would miss out on airport generated revenues if the G-E proposal went through, because the monorail would be built with private capital and revenues would be kept by G-E.

Fisher even went so far as to inform Lilly that revenues produced by the airport link "will probably be an essential element" in the financial feasibility of any WBRTA plan involving rail rapid transit on the Peninsula. Just the thought of all those passengers pouring off airplanes and out of maintenance shops onto trains had mouths watering — both in WBRTA offices and in San Francisco.

Supervisor Roger Boas and other proponents of the extension, waited until last week to put the plan forward, complete with facts and figures either plucked out of thin air or provided by persons who had carefully studied the subject for years.

Boas used present and projected airport passenger figures running into the millions: 20 million now, double that figure by 1975.

The "ideal line" Boas pointed out would bypass all North County cities (which he and his Board have failed, or refused, to contact on the matter) and whiz directly into the fifth floor level of the south terminal garage. Certainly, Boas admitted there was about 10,000 feet of private property that San Francisco would have to acquire from citizens either in San Bruno or Millbrae, but apparently that wasn't even worth dwelling on at this early date. Boas continued to evade that particular question both during the supervisors' meet and a previous KCBS broadcast.

You Must Pay Them

QUESTION: — I joined a book club and now they keep sending me books. Whether I order them or not. Do I have to pay for this unordered merchandise?

ANSWER: — Yes, you do have to pay for the books. A membership in a book club is an exception when the agreement is that you will return their notice of the next month's selection by a certain date if you do not want the book. Return the notice promptly if you do not want the forthcoming selection.

QUESTION: — I have called the BBB with problems and have always been told to see an attorney as they were unable to help me. What good is the Bureau?

ANSWER: — You no doubt had legal entanglements which were beyond the scope of BBB activities. The BBB is willing to help whenever it can but inquiries should be made BEFORE legal contracts are signed not AFTER.

QUESTION: — Do Du Pont, B. F. Goodrich and U.S. Steel sell house siding over the telephone?

ANSWER: — No, they do not. The companies you named make the materials that go into such a product. It is wise not to do business with anyone who misrepresents his real company affiliation as he would lie about other facts.

QUESTION: — What is the duty on merchandise coming into United States from Hong Kong?

ANSWER: — According to the U.S. Customs office the duty on woven wool garments is 37 1/2 cents per pound and 21 per cent of dollar value. On beaded sweaters, blouses, etc., the duty is between 39-41 per cent. In many cases, further undisclosed costs beyond the fairly stiff taxes could be United States postal handling charges and Hong Kong postal charges.

QUESTION: — I am a chain smoker and wonder if a product I see widely advertised is a cure-all?

ANSWER: — According to a representative of the American Medical Assn. it is generally true that no known drugs, or combination of such, will alone cure the tobacco habit or permanently eliminate the desire to smoke. Some products may be an aid to certain persons as primarily psychological help.

Westside Baptists Set Sacred Concert

At the 7 p.m. Sunday Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, Tommy and Judy Douglas of Hayward will present a sacred concert, at Westside Baptist Church of Pacifica.

Tommy won the 1962 vocal talent contest sponsored by the Southern States area of Youth for Christ, and sang with the "Teen-Tones" of St. Petersburg, Fla.

After serving four years in the Air Force, he and Judy joined the "Continental Singers" and toured the United States and the Caribbean Islands. He is at present affiliated with Family Radio Inc., San Francisco and on weekends, they present concerts in churches of the Bay Area and Northern California.

At this service, to which the public is invited, a free-will offering will be taken.

Whispers In Summer Loop Softball Lead

The Whispers go into the final round of league play in the Daly City Recreation Department's High School Summer Softball League 1/2 game ahead of the pack.

The Whispers exploded for 47 runs in two games as they walloped the Trojans 17-7 and whitewashed the Seals 30-3. Ron Hackett and Gil Asevedo again sparked the Whispers to victory with their big bats.

The Local Yokels trimmed a stubborn Trojan team 8-6 behind Rick Guisti who hit a grand slam home run and Don Thuen who sparked on defense.

The Knuckle Balls from Westmoor Park edged the Seals 5-4 behind some fine offensive and defensive play of Steve Murray, Gordy Contreras, Jack Barnes, Jim Woods, Brad Kearns, and Ken Greene.

Bouncers Slip By Green Slime

The Bouncers nipped the Green Slime 58-56 to advance to the semi-final playoffs in the Daly City Recreation Department's Summer High School Basketball League play-off tournament.

Steve Becker tallied 22 points and teammate Mark Storman scored 15 times to lead the Bouncer scoring. Paul Reynolds and Larry Hopkinson scored 16 and 15 points respectively to spearhead the losers efforts.

The Bouncers will meet the Breakers in the semi-final match at Jefferson High School on August 30 at 7:30 p.m.

Kings, Kueens Are Winners

The Kings and Kueens and the Rejects picked up three victories apiece in the Daly City Recreation Department Adult "B" Co-Rec. Volleyball League.

The Kings and Kueens showed no mercy as they whitewashed the Wild Bunch 15-1, 15-10, and 15-6 while the Rejects humbled the Old Squad 15-11, 15-12, and 15-10.

Fire Damages Vacant House

A vacant house on Railroad Avenue in South San Francisco was damaged by fire Saturday night, authorities reported.

Firemen said the blaze started in the top front rooms of the two-story house, which is located at 538 Railroad, about 9:30 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $1,500 to $2,000.

Eleven firemen were at the scene about two hours extinguishing the fire and performing "clean-up" operations.

A department spokesman said firemen are investigating the possibility of arson in the blaze.

A Flaming Win For Al Mulder

Al Mulder met five opponents in an elimination series of the Daly City Recreation Department's Annual Horseshoe Pitching Tournament, and defeated all five in ten complete games recently.

He pitched the final championship game at Westlake Park against Ron Riggs in the same fashion, defeating Riggs in consecutive games without losing one during the entire tournament.

B'nai Israel's Services Told

Congregation B'nai Israel's Sabbath Services in Colma will be conducted Friday at 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday at 10 a.m. On August 15, the congregation will honor those families who have recently joined the membership roster.

Rabbi Solomon A. Shore will return to the pulpit this week after a vacation.

Presbyterian Youth Aid With Day Camp Children

Four high schoolers of Daly City participated for seven weeks as volunteer leaders in a day camp program.

They are Charles Tinsley, Sue Rudnick, Lily Ann Whitman, James Tweedie, an assistant director and Barbara Rechter.

There were two weeks of training with 200 other high school leaders through Cameron House, the Presbyterian Center in San Francisco's Chinatown, and at churches in the Sunset District and Ingleside District.

Then there followed five weeks of day camping at prescribed locations in the Golden Gate and McLaren Parks continuously for over 900 children.

The local youth worked with other leaders out of the Ingleside Presbyterian Church on Ocean Avenue.

One hundred and fifteen children in groups of ten, with two leaders for each group, were taken five days a week to and from park locations on public transportation.

An evaluation meeting followed each daily outing for the leaders.

The five local youth leaders were recognized for their outstanding leadership at last Sunday's 10 a.m. worship service of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church of Daly City.

Rec Commission Sets D.C. Session

The next meeting of the Daly City Recreation Commission has been moved up a week from the regular fourth Wednesday.

The meeting will be held on August 20, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the Council Chambers at the City Hall, 9th and Sullivan Streets.

FRANK LA PIERRE (Post Columnist)

THE SNUB HAS BEEN FELT most in Daly City where talks on the BARTD terminus station (which probably will not be a terminus station for long) were in the home stretch after some three years of discussions.

Rumors went out that Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyett will soon call off the talks, again stalling completion of the station, unless the city can get immediate assurance there will be NO changes in station design or other matters discussed.

Fisher's final recommendation to Lilly in his letter read:

"The G-E proposal should be kept in reserve as long as timely progress is being made on a broader approach to relieving Peninsula ground transportation problems."

It would appear that whomever is responsible for keeping "in reserve" the G-E proposal has done his job admirably.

Don't misunderstand, folks, it's not because we are monorail fans. Truth is; this columnist would support anything that would do the job of providing good, economical, safe transportation for the people of San Mateo County.

What hurts is the fact that after tossing a $1.2 million ball down the field for four years and watching someone else pick it up and score — well, that's kind of hard to swallow!

Five 'Greatest Players' Teams

BY LE PACINI

BASEBALL'S STATISTICS buffs should have a field day with a new book out by Robert Kalich entitled, "The Baseball Rating Handbook." Kalich has set up his own complicated mathematical system to rate players, and has used his system to evaluate every player who ever trod a major league baseball field. Based on those ratings he has picked five teams of baseball's greatest players, which I list below.

But first a word of Kalich's system. It is to intricate to go into thoroughly here, but very generally what he has done is break down the actual playing performances into what he calls six categories.

For pitchers: team value, power, pitching arsenal value—technical proficiency, control, experience and versatility and execution. For non-pitchers, both offensively and defensively: team value, power, technical proficiency, speed, experience, and versatility and experience.

HE THEN HAS a table of point rating scales which are adjusted to what he feels are the most valuable of the categories. For instance, he rates team value among the top valued categories in starting pitchers. A perfect score in that area would bring a player 25 points. Top value for a relief pitcher in team value would be only 15. The maximum team value score for defense is only 20. He rates versatility and execution in all categories as worth only a 10-point maximum, and so on. As we say, it gets very complicated.

Kalich is almost unbelievably thorough and technical. As examples: starting pitchers under the team value category are, among many other factors, graded for their ability to be selected by managers to pitch the important games.

They are even rated for their ability to back up bases. In the offensive category, one of the things rated is the quickness of a player's bat. In the defensive category, he takes into account mental as well as physical errors. Those are just a few examples of the painstaking research he claims to have done in order to once and for all—scientifically—judge the relative abilities of players from all eras.

KALICH'S SYSTEM, of course, has two basic flaws. Forgetting how just one man can possibly and accurately research things such as how well a guy who pitched 10 innings in the majors last year backs up bases, all of this point rating is ultimately subjective, one man's opinion. Even if he has it on the best of authority that a certain shortstop, for instance, is great on positioning himself for relays from the outfield, it is still Kalich who has judged just how valuable that aspect of play is.

The other obvious flaw in the plan is that he's put himself in the position of judging on such technicalities of players long dead which he never saw; of whom nobody who is living has ever seen so that Kalich might interview them for at least second-hand information.

He's on relatively solid ground with batting averages, win-loss records, etc., because they're recorded. But he rates so many factors which could never have been recorded that he's often, it seems to us, on tenuous grounds.

Despite these personal objections, we still find Kalich's book fascinating. And there must be a lot of validity to it. His book was published before the recent All-Time Great team was named to celebrate baseball's centennial. There's only one difference between the team named for the centennial and Kalich's. He rates Sandy Koufax over Lefty Grove as the greatest left-handed pitcher. Grove is rated second.

Kalich rates Babe Ruth as the greatest player of all time, as did the centennial committee of baseball writers, radio and television sportscasters (with the help of fans). The centennial committee rated John McGraw as the greatest manager, and so does Kalich.

KALICH MAKES ONLY one goof. Using his system, he predicts 1969's best team. He chooses the Cardinals.

Kalich's manipulations with figures make the current Giants look very good. The Giants had four pitchers rated among 1968's top 20. No other team placed more than two in that group.

Marichal rated tops with 95 points (maximum is 110), just beating out Bob Gibson, who posted 93. Gaylord Perry rated 10th, Mike McCormick 28th and Ray Sadecki 29th. Marichal, incidentally, was the only pitcher in the majors last year with a perfect rating in control.

Speaking of perfection, Willie Mays was the only center fielder to whom Kalich assigned a perfect defensive score (70). Curt Flood, who many are now saying has surpassed Willie defensively, was rated 64. Bill Mazeroski was the only second baseman rated perfect on defense. Brooks Robinson the only third baseman. Carl Yastrzemski made Kalich look good when he made that great catch in the All-Star game, because Kalich had him rated as far and away the best defensive left fielder in the game today.

In all-time defensive ratings, he gives perfect marks to Joe DiMaggio, Mays and Tris Speaker.

GETTING BACK to the local contemporary talent, Frank Lirzy rates third among active relief pitchers behind Hoyt Wilhelm and Elroy Face.

The top three rated first basemen among active players are Orlando Cepeda, Willie McCovey and Bill White.

Sound familiar? That's right. All three are either current or past Giant first sackers. As you'll note below, not one of this trio rates on Kalich's five all-time teams, but Cepeda rates just about even with Hank Greenberg and Gil Hodges, both of whom just missed the mythical five-team alignment.

According to Kalich, Ruth didn't win going away as the all-time best player. The Babe totaled 163 of a possible perfect 175 scored according to Kalich's system. DiMaggio was on his heels with 162. Mays is on Joe's tail with 161, and Ty Cobb holds a 160 score.

Bobby Bonds made Kalich's 1968 all-rookie team, and is also named as one of the top 30 young players. And—if we put preference in Kalich's system—now we know why Giant managers have always ruminated over who to play regularly at third: Jimmy Davenport or Jimmy Hart.

Kalich rates them as dead even, tied for eighth place among active third sackers. Hart didn't gather many points for defense.

AND KALICH isn't going to be much help to Clyde King, either, in helping him to decide between his catchers. In total points, he rates Jack Hiatt with 65, Dick Dietz with 64.

Following, Kalich's five best all-time teams:

Children Scurried Over 'Countryside'

BY VIRGINIA SIMON

Tuesday's surprise event was a Sacagawea Hunt: a repeat by popular request. Children scurried around the neighborhood in search of items in order to be the first person to secure all 20 items. The first person to return was the team of Kim Marione and Kathy Murphy. Close behind was Jim Gurnina and Mike Simon with Joe Gurnina and Jim Nelson a close third.

In anticipation of Indian Day, boys and girls are busy strapping beads and making head-dresses to use as part of their costumes. In order to be judged "The Best Dressed Indian," because of the overcast weather, all the children are looking forward to a day in the sun at the final outing of the Sacagawea Hunt.

SKYLINE SCHOOL. By Joe Anselmi. Last week the Recreation Department sponsored a Skyline School. The winners were: Tommy Spoorer, Tom Aaron, Keith Aaron, Joe Aaron, Jackie Bender and Junior Spoorer. The grand prize winners were: Tommy Spoorer, Tom Aaron, Keith Aaron and Junior Spoorer.

DANIEL WESTER SCHOOL. By Joe Anselmi. John Dracco won the Home Run Derby contest held at Daniel Webster last week. In 10 times at bat John was able to hit an amazing seven home runs. Special recognition must be given to Mike Perry who hit the longest home run for the day. Others who displayed their hitting talents were Steve Deschler, Tim Noonan, and Joe Hartill.

Partly Shorin and Mary Ann Reagan hoped to watch the Youngster children on the recent trip to Golden Gate Park. A reminder to all young girls: during the week of August 11-15, Daniel Webster Playground will take part in the tenth Annual City-Wide Doll Show.

OLYMPIA SCHOOL. By Mike Ciarella. On August 1, Olympia School held a Tournament Day. Four types of games were played: ping pong, checkers, paddle pool and carroms. The first four places in each game were awarded points.

First place received four points, second place 3, third place 2, fourth place 1. Garry Simpson was the champion in ping pong and carroms. Bob Masella was the champion in checkers, and Jim Matteucci was the champion in paddle pool.

After all the tournaments were over, an overall champion was picked. The champion was picked on the total amount of points he received in the four games. Garry Simpson won the overall championship with 14 points. Jim Matteucci was second with 11 points. Pat O'Gorman was third with 9 points and Bob Masella was fourth with 7 points. The "Boy of the Week Award" goes to Garry Simpson.

WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL. By Marit Beltrano. The week of July 28-August 1 was like week at Woodrow Wilson School. Awards were given to the best decorated class on Wednesday. The winners were: Tommy Bender, David Bender, Joe Aaron, Perry Kay, Mike Sanders, the cheerleader, Tommy Spoorer, Tom Aaron, Keith Aaron, Joe Aaron, Jackie Bender and Junior Spoorer.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL. By Dan Desmond. George Washington playground combined, youngsters, fair weather, and a barbecue last week to produce smiling faces and full stomachs for all. Another feature is scheduled during the remaining weeks in this summer's state of activities and all are invited to attend. George Washington is also very proud to have News Amusement chosen as the Daily City Recreation Champion in the Hula Hoop Contest for girls 8 years of age or younger.

Neva will compete in the regional championship coming this month. "Good luck, Neva! The George Washington 'Whisperers' of the High School Slow Pitch League had first place with a record of 3 wins and only 1 loss. Stars of recent games include Phil Medina, Gary Bender, Gilbert Asencio, Donald Pipkins and Ron Hackett. George Washington will also take part in this summer's Doll Show. Girls are requested to come to the playground to obtain further information before the August 13th deadline.

MARCHBANKS PARK. By John Handley.

Last Wednesday the children of Marchbanks went on an outing to Golden Gate Park. There was a rousing response from all the children who participated in the activity. While preparing for Junior Olympic Competition which begins in approximately a week the following individuals have excelled in their fields: In Ping Pong competition Tony Mass, age 17, Neville Wallis, age 15 and Hecker Vargas, age 15, have shown extreme skill with the paddles. The Hastings girls are kings of the checker board while the Hayes brothers dominate the Ring Toss game.

In Carrom competition the action boys are tops. In Strike-Out Florio Flores is "almost" unbeatable and in Hopscotch Thomas Williams is champion.

Stephanie King knows all the ropes in Tennis. Stephanie Leslie Alexander is a real "red-hot" in Dodge Ball. Finally, Sharon Richards and Gayland Smith are a dynamic duo in extra-curricular activities.

COLMA SCHOOL. By Dan Desmond. The Dumb-Dumbs took sole possession of first place in the Colma Volleyball League by beating both the Weirside and the Loafers. Lois Casanova, Jackie Jardine and Darlene Shultz led the Dumb-Dumbs against the Weirside 21-15 and 21-6. The previously unbeaten Loafers also lost to the Dumb-Dumbs 21-15 and 21-11 behind the teamwork of Bill Perla and Linda Perez, the week's most valuable player. Outstanding for the Loafers were Garoon England and Pete Diaz. A tennis tournament was held last week at Colma. Ron Sanchez proved to be the best man as he defeated all his opponents.

Bob Gordon came in second and Bill Perla took third. There was also a watermelon eating contest which was won easily by the experienced Al Gilmet. Lori Sutton got the week's cooking award for her homemade apple pie. Louie Gordon deserves special recognition for his outstanding track and field abilities.

Westmoor Student Wins Junior Golf

Ray Pellegrini, a Westmoor High School golfer who plays out of Harding Park, and Donna Sayles, a San Jose lass who only took up the sport seven months ago, impressed several of their elders and all of their foes August 5 at San Mateo Municipal Golf Course.

Each finished as a champion in the Twentieth Annual Robert E. O'Brien Memorial Junior golf tournament.

Pellegrini took the boys' overall title when he fired a two-under-par 68 to go with Monday's 70 for a 138 total. Defending champ John Abendroth, Olympic Club, finished far back at 72-73-145.

Miss Sayles, who shows considerable power off the tee despite the fact that she first started playing the game last January, shot a 44-42-86 for the girls' crown.

San Mateo's Mike Mulhearn and Eric Batten also acquitted themselves well on behalf of the Peninsula. Mulhearn won the boys' 14-15 title with a 74-74-148 while Batten took the 12-13 division with a 79-75-154.

Results: BOYS Overall Winner: Ray Pellegrini (Harding Park) 70-68-138.

Age 14-17: Mark Lye (Silverado) 69-72-141.

Age 14-17: Mike Mulhearn (San Mateo) 74-74-148; George Bingham (Palo Alto) 74-74-148; Byron Cook (Sharp Park) 77-73-150; (won play-off) Bob Gaul (San Jose) 76-76-152.

Age 12-13: Eric Batten (San Mateo) 79-75-154; Mike Mulhearn (San Mateo) 79-75-154; Terry Mlyashiro (Harding) 81-81-162.

Age 10-11: Paul Leonard (Diablo) 44-42-86 (won play-off); Dennis Triller (California) 44-42-86; Jim Tuta (Harding) 49-44-93 (9 holes each day).

Age 9 and Under: 13 holes each day: Mike Modest (Harding) 25-30-55; Jay Vetrano (Harding) 30-45-75; Jim Fisher (Santa Rosa) 30-45-75.

GIRLS Overall Winner: Donna Sayles (Serrano) 44-42-86.

Age 14-17: Pam Palmieri (Santa Rosa) 44-42-86; Diane Buzzini (Turlock) 44-42-86; Barbara Vetrano (Harding) 46-46-92.

Age 12-13: Alice Miller (Plumas Lake) 50-54-104; Denise Ross (San Mateo) 53-57-110; Marilyn Martyniak (Walnut Creek) 53-57-110.

Full Story On Teacher Is Urged

A member of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees in Daly City last week called for a "full disclosure of the facts" surrounding accusations against a teacher at Benjamin Franklin School.

At Tuesday's board meeting, trustee Dorothy Adams, after reading into the record a newspaper column by Westlake Post editor Will Thomas, entered a motion calling for an executive session to consider "all the evidence against the unnamed teacher."

Mrs. Adams charged that the newspaper column constituted an "open indictment" against the teacher, and said she felt the matter should be "brought out into the open, since it has developed into a public scandal."

In criticizing the newspaper "essay," she said it was especially "unfortunate" that the teacher was not named "since it could be any teacher in the district."

Her motion to instruct Supt. Frank Greenwood to divulge all evidence in the matter at a closed executive session failed to pass, with Board Chairman Joe Lewkowicz and Trustee Albert Colletti abstaining from voting. Mrs. Adams and Trustee William Schumacher voted in favor of the session.

After the motion failed, board members agreed to hold an executive session at the next meeting, without stipulating that "all the evidence" in the matter of accusations against the unnamed teacher, be divulged.

A member of JESD teachers in the audience, including Benjamin Franklin teacher Robert Lasley, indicated that they favor Mrs. Adams' proposal for "full disclosure" of the alleged evidence against the teacher.

Officers of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association protested to the board, several weeks ago, over the manner in which allegations against the teacher have been handled.

According to the JCTA spokesman, the "vocal minority" of parents, of children at the school, have attempted to "build a case" against the teacher without going through proper channels.

Thomas' column charged the JCTA with making untrue statements regarding a parents group involved and attempted to refute teacher claims that channels had been sidestepped.

The JCTA requested strict guidelines be established to cover teaching of "controversial material," to protect staff members, and that formal procedures for bringing complaints against district teachers, be established.

They charge that the Benjamin Franklin teacher is being "persecuted," without having had an opportunity to face his accusers.

FONTANA ASKS New Sources Of Teachers

Longtime Jefferson High School District trustee Elio Fontana last week called for greater recruitment from sources other than San Francisco State College.

Fontana registered the only negative vote when the board approved the hiring of four new teachers for the coming school year.

"Let's be a little bit more liberal," Fontana said, "and look all over the place" for teachers. He suggested teachers might be obtained from such places as USF, University of California at Santa Barbara and from universities in Oregon.

"It's a very important item with me personally," Fontana declared, "and my vote against (the list of teachers recommended for hiring) will serve to reiterate that particular point."

Trustee James Cooper of Pacifica wanted to know if Fontana would consider establishment of a "percentage factor."

Replied Fontana: "I don't want to be identified to the point of being an annex to San Francisco State, because there are so many other good universities."

He continued, "I'd love to see, let's say, 80 per cent from all other universities. I'd hate terrible to be just identified with any percentage from San Francisco State. I think there are too many other universities from around the country that we can draw from that would make excellent teachers."

Then the motion to hire four new teachers was approved, 4-1.

Cooper continued, however: "I don't want to belabor the question, but I'm in agreement that I think we should be looking at some type of guideline on recruitment for the administration."

Trustee Ed Solomon saw that approach as "awful hard."

He said, "For one thing, most people go to colleges near their homes. They seek employment near their homes," adding "it'd be just pretty hard to put down a quota. I'd be pretty hard to fill teaching positions."

Nonetheless, Solomon did agree, "It would be a good idea to get a diversified teaching staff from various places if we can, you know, but to put a quota or guideline would be kind of rigid on the administration to go out and find qualified people."

He said the district trustees should let administrators select, "unless we get Jack the Ripper or something."

Skyline Bus Service For Commuters

Skyline Boulevard commuters who have been waiting three years for bus service from San Bruno to San Francisco will have to wait no longer after this Monday.

That at least is what a State Public Utilities Commission announcement indicated yesterday, but commuters who didn't believe it could hardly be blamed.

The PUC originally ordered Greyhound to begin service in January, 1966, after holding hearings urged by local residents.

But the bus company went to the State Supreme Court which in early 1967 threw out the PUC order based on a technicality.

The PUC rewrote the order which this time was upheld in court in July, 1968.

But that still did not mean that bus service was imminent. Turnouts had to be built along the Skyline so that buses would have places to pick up and discharge commuters without stalling traffic.

Then, finally, when work was completed early this summer, there was a strike at Greyhound.

So barring thunder, lightning, earthquake and monsoon, buses will leave San Bruno and Skyline each weekday morning 6:46, 6:56 and 7:06 for the 50-minute commute to the Seventh street terminal. Coming home, buses will leave Seventh street at 4:55, 5:05 and 5:20. After all, what else could happen?

DC Guideline For Dress Is Approved

Trustees of Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District August 5 adopted a "Dress code" for students.

Recommended by an 18-member committee appointed by the board to study the matter two months ago, the new "standards for student attire" specify "general guidelines, specific limitations and generally preferred standards" for student attire.

According to the code, "Students should not be allowed to attend classes if their dress or general appearance is determined to be a source of disturbance to the learning opportunity of others."

"Bizarre, costume-type apparel and body decoration are not appropriate, yet students should be allowed to express their individual tastes in dress within generally prescribed limitations."

"Further, the school should communicate to the parents of the students its desires for the limitations on student dress and grooming."

Specifically, all students are to dress in a manner that is "clean, modest and safe," under the new standards.

"Personal grooming during school hours is to be done in the rest rooms only."

Under "generally preferred standards," the new guidelines state that boys' hair should be "clean and well-groomed, and limited to short collar length."

"Socks should be worn with footwear. Shirts that are commonly used as underwear should be covered, and hats or caps should not be worn."

The guideline also states that clothing "symbolic of gangs or radical movements should not be worn."

"Cut-offs or beachwear are inappropriate according to the standards adopted, though shirts that are commonly used as outer garments and have a square hem along the lower

Building Group Seeks New Electrical Code in County

Charging that provisions of the San Mateo County Electrical Code have made the cost of housing unnecessarily high, the Peninsula Building Industry Association of San Mateo has urged the County Board of Supervisors to adopt the 1968 National Electrical Code in its entirety.

In the past, the board was told, the county has amended the national code to prohibit the use of non-metallic sheathed cable (NMC) in residential wiring.

"We believe this archaic prohibition against a nationally approved, completely safe and more economic wiring system adds an unnecessary burden to residential construction costs in our county and its communities," Gordon Blackley, the association's executive vice president, told the supervisors.

The PBIA, a 200-member affiliate of the National Association of Home Builders, submitted material to the board stating that NMC is as safe as the metallic raceway wiring required by the county and is less costly and easier to install. The metallic raceway system calls for metal conduits through which electrical wires are passed, while NMC consists of insulated conductors and a ground, and archaic building methods.

Blackley said, "The current electrical code provisions in use throughout the county which prohibit use of non-metallic sheathed cable for residential electrical wiring cannot be justified on any reasonable grounds."

The board asked Henry P. Tarra, county director of building construction and general services, for a report.

Gas Tax To S.M. County

SACRAMENTO (PCNS)—San Mateo County will receive $354,667 as its share of gasoline tax funds collected during July and San Mateo City, $63,340.

All of the funds must be expended for construction or repair of streets and highways.

Among other San Mateo County communities receiving funds and the amount are:

Alherton, $8,243; Belmont, $21,563; Brisbane, $4,432; Burlingame, $25,330; Colma, $1,749; Daly City, $53,880; Half Moon Bay, $4,105; Hillsborough, $8,489; Menlo Park, $27,255; Millbrae, $20,166; Pacifica, $31,944; Portola Valley, $6,158; Redwood City, $48,635; San Carlos, $24,473; South San Francisco, $39,048.

2 Arrested In Burglary

Two teen-agers, first spotted inside a San Bruno City Park and apprehended by patrolmen after a footrace, were charged Thursday with burglary.

San Bruno police said a cruising patrolman saw the door to a storage area beneath the grandstand was open, drove in to check it out, and saw someone looking out at him.

As he approached, two youngsters darted out and began running through the park, the patrolman dashing after them.

One suspect, 19-year-old Hector Monterrosa of 713 Olive Court, San Bruno, was apprehended by the policeman.

Another suspect continued running, but other police units were called and a second suspect, a 17-year-old San Bruno youth — later identified as a student helper at the park under a program for underprivileged youngsters — was taken into custody, and sent to Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center.

Police said a third youth apparently escaped. Authorities said there had been an attempt to remove a public address system from the storage area.

150 Days In SFS Case

Judge Walter F. Calcagno passed down the stiffest sentences yet in connection with persons convicted in a San Francisco State College disturbance.

The Municipal Court judge Monday sentenced Paul A. Yamazaki and James P. Queen to 150 days in jail each for refusal to disperse, disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly. Probation was denied to Yamazaki and Queen refused it.

Charles H. Seemann and Megumi Shimizu each were sentenced to 30 days, 180 days suspended and one year probation, plus a $250 fine for the same misdemeanors.

Curt E. Schneider, convicted of the same three things, refused probation and was sentenced to 163 days.

John D. Cleveland was sentenced to 163 with probation denied for refusal to disperse, disturbing the peace, unlawful assembly and inciting to riot.

Pending appeals, bails were set ranging from $250 to $6,250.

The disturbance, in January, came during a strike led by the Black Students Union which unsuccessfully sought a college of ethnic studies and the admission of all Negroes regardless of academic qualifications.

WITH AMBITION-TALENT
Wanted for the fastest growing fraternal benefit society in America. You must see our audio-visual presentation to understand how many of our men have doubled their income and advanced to management within a 6-month period. If you are looking for a life-time career — want ambition and talent — want to advance to management rapidly — are between 25 and 55 years of age and have a late model car, you owe it to yourself to phone for a personal interview from Dan Cunningham, San Mateo, 345-9754

$ MONEY TALKS $
If you talk to any salesman you will know that he spends 80% of his time prospecting. Our system eliminates this problem entirely. We furnish 5 to 7 leads per day. This is NO RICH QUICK IDEA but earnings of $150 to $375 per week are not uncommon. For a quick courteous interview call Certified Salesman, Co. J. WALLER, mornings from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. 731-7994. Evenings 6-8 p.m. 731-7995

EXECUTIVE SALES OPPTY.
Financial services organization has opening for young man between the ages of 24-34. The ability to work easily with sales or commission clientele a prerequisite. College background necessary in order to assimilate our extensive training material. Above all we want a man with the desire to achieve and excel. Full range of fringe benefits, including pension program. Salary plus commission gives opportunity for large income. Call 731-7416 between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. for appointment. Write Box 3152, THE TIMES, S.M.

MARKETING CAREER
An opportunity to utilize your sales potential, maximize earnings and move rapidly into management with a major, international computer manufacturer. College degree and sales or marketing experience preferred, coupled with a strong desire to succeed. Send resume in confidence or telephone Mr. D.J. Blazing, 347-3621.

TAX ANSWERS

J. M. CULLEN, DISTRICT DIRECTOR, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My refund check only covered the amount I claimed on my return and not the additional amount due me from the 1940X I filed. What should I do?

S.S.F. Info Center Set

The South San Francisco Economic Opportunity Council will be opening an Information Center at 224 Lux Avenue, SSF.

Robert A. Zertuche, director of the Information Center, will be available to assist the Mexican-American Community in seeking educational assistance for Mexican-American youths, helping to procure employment for the Mexican-American Youth, acting as a general translating center and offering whatever other types of aid the Mexican-American Community may need.

"At the present time," Zertuche stated, "the Center is looking for a secretary who can speak English and Spanish" for additional information contact the center.

"Anyone wishing to donate office equipment," Zertuche reported, "or funds for the Center may contact me at the office."

A—You will receive another refund check soon for the additional amount claimed. No further action on your part is necessary.

Q—I do baby-sitting and housework for several women on a regular basis. How can I tell if Social Security is being paid on my wages?

A—Employers are required to provide employees with an annual statement of wages paid and Social Security taxes withheld. For household employees, Social Security taxes have to be paid by the employer when cash wages of $50 or more are paid to an employee during any calendar quarter. No income tax is withheld. A full statement of your Social Security coverage may be obtained by writing to the Social Security Administration, Baltimore, Maryland, 21235. Give your name, address and Social Security number.

Q—My former husband helps support our three children but what he gives me doesn't come close to covering the cost of raising them. Who gets to claim them for tax purposes?

A—The general rule as to the children of divorced or separated parents is that the parent who has custody of them for the greater part of the year is entitled to claim the dependency deduction. But there are exceptions to this rule depending on what the decree states and amount of support furnished by your former husband. For de-

Jefferson Tax Lowered By Trustees

By WILL E. THOMAS

Property owners in the Jefferson High School District Wednesday probably got their first real break of the tax season when trustees approved a reduction of nearly eight cents in the Daly City-Pacific district's tax rate.

Though the district's assessed valuation came in surprisingly higher than anticipated, substantially easing the load throughout the tax structure, the major contributing factor, school administrators pointed out, was a decrease from 39 cents, to 26 cents, the bond interest and redemption category, an item established by the state.

While decreasing the total tax rate, trustees also approved an increase in employee fringe benefits — long-term disability and dental insurance.

Administrators had budgeted in previously "tight budget" days, this year $20,881 for long-term disability for all full-time district employees, giving a coverage of two-thirds of salary, of $600 maximum per month for five years for illness or age 65 for accident.

The extended coverage, as asked by the district's negotiating Council last night and approved by the board, at a cost of an additional $11,656, would provide two-thirds of salary, or $1,000 maximum monthly to age 65, for both illness and accident.

Insurance

A sum of $66,528 had been budgeted previously for dental insurance, with coverage at a percentage of a set fee schedule, which Miss Margaret Riggs of the Negotiating Council estimated the schedule to be at 1950 dental costs level.

District Supt. Edward Morgan noted the existing fee structure could be 50 per cent "antiquated," according to conversations he had with a dentist.

The extended coverage will add the same percentage of "usual, customary, and reasonable" dental fees, at an increase cost to the district of $13,248.

Salary and other benefits proposals that would not effect the basic district tax rate were not presented to the trustees.

Any pay boosts and other items will be considered at another date, and will have to be accommodated, if approved, from the unappropriated reserve, without a tax increase.

The district will contribute about $338,000 in health, dental, life and long-term disability insurance as a result of trustee action.

District assessed valuation jumped not the district projected 3.8 per cent increase but 9.14 per cent, Assistant Supt. Glenn South explained.

First "guesstimates," South declared, put the assessed valuation figure at $223 million, but when all the figures were in last Friday, the district was credited with a total gross in secured, unsecured and operative assessed valuations of $244,260,810.

The district's tax rate last year was $9.0258 per each $100 of assessed valuation. This year's will be — provided the insurance companies involved confirm the figures on longtime disability — $2.9435.

The increase in assessed valuation, commented Superintendent Morgan, "is responsible for a goodly portion of this because your redemptions have not changed, your base changed. You're still redeeming the same amount of bonds as you would be redeeming under any condition, except the financial base is broader. Therefore, the amount of tax necessary to raise the money to take care of the redemptions from the standpoint of this year is less."

Assistant Supt. South talked about the change in the financial atmosphere within the district, referring back to the oft-repeated cries of "poor."

Oil Slick Endangers Neighborhood

Thousands of gallons of oil flowed down a street in the Westborough section of South San Francisco August 6 after a fitting was apparently removed from a storage tank at Gellert Boulevard and Darry Way.

Police said the oil, which virtually covered Gellert Boulevard for a block-and-a-half, was discovered by a neighborhood resident about 11:15 p.m.

At least one motorist, Irving Sarver, 2925 Shannon Drive, "spun out" in the oil-slicked street before firemen and street department crews completed "washing down" the area.

Sarver was not injured, though his automobile was damaged, according to police.

Oil in the storage tank, which belongs to Plomba Construction Co., is used in road construction, police said.

Officers said company officials had "no idea" how the valve on the tank was removed.

Police theorized that vandals could have been responsible.

The oil was washed into storm drains along the street by firemen and street workers.

DC Woman Is Robbed

A "clean-cut" appearing teenager rode up to an elderly Daly City woman on a bicycle outside a local supermarket Saturday afternoon, grabbed her purse and pedaled away.

Mrs. Mabel McDevitt, 69, told police she was walking through the store's parking lot when the youth, "neatly dressed and clean-cut," approached on a bicycle and snatched her purse away shortly after 3 p.m.

The loss was undetermined, police said.

Similar Increase He continued, "Then about four or five years ago, we had a similar large increase on reassessment, which saved us, and now, here again, we experience the same thing: a large reassessment, which has saved us again!"

County to Delay Land Purchase

A proposal that the county action on Wilson's proposal until August 18. South San Francisco is scheduled to do something about the road project on August 18.

County Engineer Don S. Wilson urged the Board of Supervisors to buy the 2½-acre parcel from the state for $5,000. He proposed that the property, which he described as a "big hole in the ground," be made available to contractors as a place to dispose of unwanted dirt. In time, he said, the parcel would become a usable site at a major intersection.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald called it a "fine idea" but added that it "requires the cooperation of the city of South San Francisco." The city and the county have been feuding over plans for the extension of Westborough Boulevard between Junipero Serra and El Camino Real, with the result that the project has been delayed for two years.

At the suggestion of Fitzgerald, the board agreed to delay

Three Arrested In Shoplifting

Police have arrested three San Bruno teenagers for petty theft in San Mateo Wednesday on the basis of a report filed by Frank Mulligan, a security policeman at Macy's Hillsdale store.

Charged with shoplifting were Sandy Ward, 18, of 2564 Rollingwood Drive, San Bruno, Susan Shaven, 18, of 2100 Rosewood Drive, San Bruno, and a 17-year-old boy.
